INFINITY

*Infinitely many opportunities to shine.
Infinitely many moments in time.
Infinitely many battles to be won.
Infinitely many times to stand strong.
Infinitely many voices to follow.
Infinitely many choices for tomorrow
...and beyond.*

A MOMENT IN TIME

This moment in time, is our year to shine
 With pay to participate, everything seemed fine.
 This moment in time, is our year to grow
 From the questionable levies, it's all we know.
 This moment in time, with the years to come
 Will be remembered with all we've done
 ...and beyond.

WE KNOW NO END
New Philadelphia is a place of learning, growing, and beyond.
It's homework, all nighters, and beyond.
The students are dreamers, achievers, and beyond.
Where will we go from 2008?...
Infinity... and beyond.

STUDENT LIFE

NEVER ENDING STORY

Megan Mansfield and Sierra White hurry to get to class.

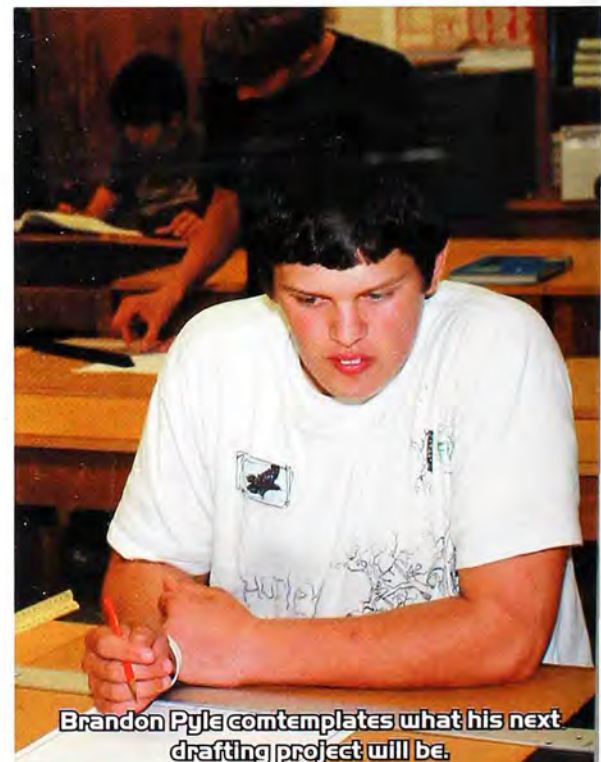

The third floor hallways are buzzing with students trying to get to class on time.

Being the good student that she is, Katie Warner remembers to stop by the office to sign in.

John Phillips and Eric Ashbaugh goof off in class.

Brandon Pyle contemplates what his next drafting project will be.

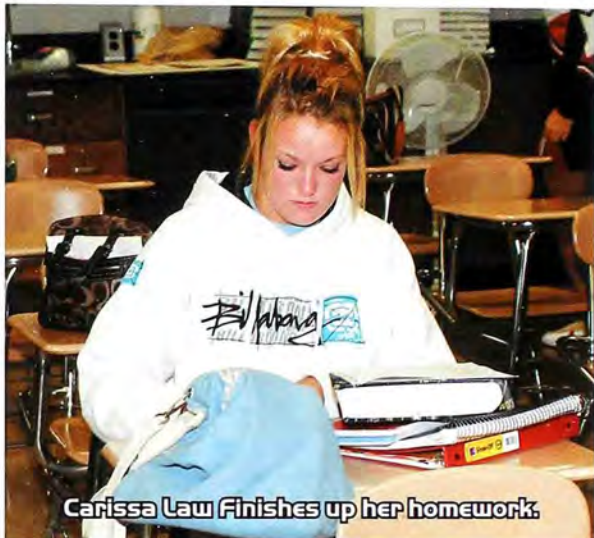

Seniors Ashley Eppley and Jessie Hatfield study for Mrs. Pry's next big bio test.

Mandy Alcorn works through the clutter on Mr. Pry's desk.

Carissa Law Finishes up her homework.

Between these Walls

Kristene Barnhart practices her clarinet between classes.

"Well, when I'm not rushing to class I'm really catching up with my friends- we laugh a lot." Freshman Kea Tarrance

What can you do in four minutes? Well the students here at NPHS have time to do so much. They can go to their lockers, get a quick drink, and even make plans for Friday night. But once in class the learning begins, the books are open and thinking caps are on. From dissecting a frog to learning a new language, students are constantly overcoming new challenges. But the challenges didn't stop there. With the impending school levy and yet another schedule change, the students here really learned important life lessons.

$50 didn't STOP US

"This year was great! The Pay-to-Participate didn't affect us at all... we had a great group who stuck by our side." - President,

Emma Bailey

The pay to participate fee did not affect Student Council whatsoever. From painting signs and the patio to setting up for homecoming, it was obvious that members were kept pretty busy. The student/staff basketball game was a guaranteed hit, but of course the staff ended up on top... again. This year for the Phila/Dover game, the student councils from both schools decided to get together and gain support for the approval of the levy by walking a lap around the field- and it worked! Our Student Council had an all-star year!

The cast and crew discuss the problems with the show over coffee.

Dr. Forbes (Aaron Fisher) finally admits to killing Sir Percival and threatens Stephen (Gabe Incarnato) at gun point.

Play ON!

"Even though the show was a comedy, I still played a mean role... I hope it's not typecasting." - Senior Kacey Kamban

The Fall Play was a hysterical comedy by Rick Abbott. The show was about a community theatre attempting (keyword: attempting) to put on a murder mystery entitled "Murder Most Fowl." The cast and crew of the mystery contains every stereotype from the all-knowing thespian to the burly backstage workers to even the dumb blonde. The play seemed to be a typical murder mystery, until the author (Courtney Thomas) decided that the show needed to be changed. The actors of the show tried desperately to do their best, despite new scripts, broken props, and a ferocious director (Kacey Kamban). But then came opening night, and anything that could have gone wrong did. The NPHS students did a phenomenal job. The Welty auditorium was filled with laughter and everyone left the show with a smile on their face.

Hooked On You

"It was a great experience and I am glad I got a chance to represent my Senior class" - Senior Homecoming Attendant, Ali Natoli

Hooked on You was the theme of homecoming that had a pirate twist. It was nicely decorated with a pirate ship, seaweed, and fish. With Crank 'dat being the popular song, everyone was on the dance floor doing the so called "Souljia Boy". Olivia Levengood was pronounced Queen and Bryant McKnight was King, they shared their dance to the song "I Need You", by Faith Hill and Tim McGraw.

"Peace No More"

"Spirit week was a blast, the best part was dressing up as a Spartan for the delphian skit at the pep rally." - Senior, Stephan Sabo

The halls weren't so quiet with the choirs singing and the students getting excited for the big game. Spirit week at NPHS was a big week. The students loved showing their spirit and making up themes for each day of the week. Students wore their farming gear starting out the week with "Plow Over Dover" then "Motoring over Dover" with all of their racing gear. Getting really into it with "Phila Will Shine", the students were definitely dressed to impress! Students even "Sent Dover Back In Time" with all of their old attire. Finally on Friday they wore red and black, and "peace no more" filled the halls.

Blowing the roof off

"The pep rally was a blast, and I was so excited that I won a prize for most spirited" - Senior Christina Hoover

For yet another year, a pep rally was held Thursday night before the Phila- Dover game. The band played, the cheerleaders cheered, the delphian sang, and the QTs danced. But at this pep rally, the crowd was given a goal- to cheer loud enough to blow the roof off the school. The crowd eagerly accepted this challenge, and while the roof still remained in place, there was no doubt that N-P-H-S could be heard everywhere.

It All Falls Down

"We lost an exciting game and it was fun painting my body for it even though it was cold and rainy, it's a tradition for the Phila Dover game and I wanted to keep the tradition alive." - Vincent Rueggeger

The 2007 Phila-Dover game started off really well for the Quakers. They scored on their first possession putting them ahead for the entire first quarter. Not even the rain could slow our boys down! Going into half time the Quakers were trailing Dover by 7 points, but the team wouldn't give up. With an exciting second half the Phila student section never gave up hope always cheering for the guys. The Quakers just couldn't capitalize on offense and the final score was 21-31. Even though the Quakers lost, it couldn't have been a more exciting game and the guys gave it their all.

Shh... Don't Tell!

"My favorite theme for Vinnie's locker was 'light up the field' when we put glow stick all over his locker." -Lindsey Merryman

Every morning senior girls could be found stressing out, trying to finish their player's locker without being seen. From glow sticks to sticks of gum, the boys were always surprised to find their lockers "decked out" for their next game. Finally when it came time for the big reveal, the girls realized that all their hard work was about to be paid off. After all the deception and sneaking around finally came to an end, the girls finally got the respect they deserved.

Nuts About Band

Mr. Furbay's third year as Band Director has meant a continuation in the strive for excellence for MQB as well as the carrying on of their many traditions such as the nutting ceremony before state competition. According to senior band member Joy Tweddle, "To the band, the nutting ceremony means unity as a family. The grooves inside the nut symbolize the rough times that keeps us together. Each year we're in band, we add another nut."

The Brady Bunch

2007 was a season of change for the boys cross country team. They were led by a new coach, Mr. Kip Brady, and the two seniors, Jeff Burgess and Stephan Sabo. Together they helped the team adjust to a new division, longer runs, and some intense games of ultimate frisbee. # A New Style

The JV and Freshmen teams both experienced a new type of coaching style with two new coaches. They both had their own methods of coaching which the players had to adjust to. The new coaches were Racquel O'Hara for JV and Amy Welch for the freshmen. Since Coach Welch was new to volleyball, Varsity Coach Lisa Clay-Trimmer helped her throughout the season. The Freshmen ended their season with a record of 6-5 and the JV with a record of 10-11.

Starting Fresh

In the 2007 soccer season the girls ended their season with a 9-9 record. Starting out the season they had a hard time due to the bad weather. The season was highlighted by two big wins against Dover and making it through two rounds of tournaments. The JV team was cut, so they only had a varsity team, which made for a really big team. The team was lead by first year head coach Mr. Weaver.

Amanda Carlisle goes in for the steal against Dover.

Sarah Tracy gets ready to kick a goal.

Abby Daley guards her dribble.

Center Court Action

It is never easy to go undefeated in any sport, but the girl's tennis team found a way to outlast tough opponents, like Massillon Perry, to finish 14-0. Needless to say the girls were ECOL Champs. With their third new coach in three years and facing pay to participate, the girls adjusted to challenges both on and off the court. One of their favorite pre-game stress relievers was to lay on the court together and look for shapes in the clouds.

Open Opportunities

NPBS

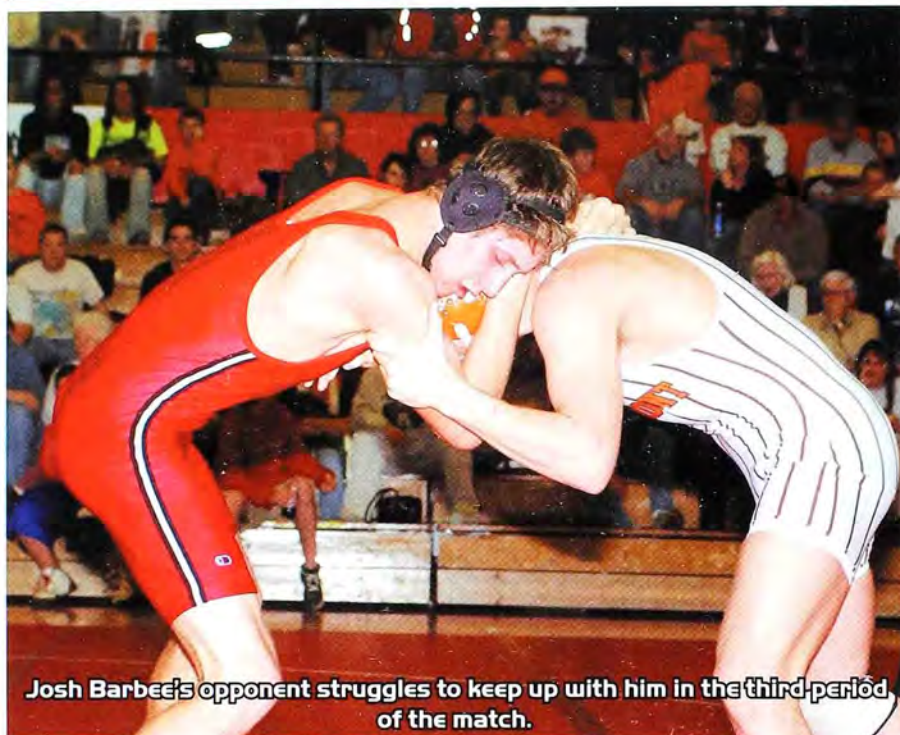

NP

With a young team, the two returning seniors, captains Vinnie Grant and Kevin Thurman, had to step up their game. Also with everyone getting sick throughout the season, many JV players got the chance to prove that they could play on a Varsity level. The boys showed themselves though, with beating Carrolton in three overtimes, a win over Dover, and were ranked 2nd seed when it came to playoffs.

Practice Makes Perfect

From live wrestling to months of conditioning, the Wrestling team was very dedicated. With team captains, Joey Seldenright, and David Schlarb leading the team to many victories, they motivated all of their teammates. "I think our season was very successful with the rough schedule we had", described freshman Quinn Angel. After a disappointing loss to Claymont, the boys came back with a victory over Dover.

Paying The Price

It was a tough season for the young Quakers. With only 3 seniors and a only a handful of juniors and sophomores the freshmen laden team wasn't able to win any dual meets. The goal was to improve every meet. Leading the team were senior standouts Jake Fait who was second in the league in the 100 meters and Caleb Celuch who was hoping to make it to State in 3 events. Caleb's season came to an end due to a season ending knee injury. Caleb could do nothing but prepare for his college career as a decathlete at Malone. The team fought on the remainder of the season without him.

Playing As One

The JV softball team had an average season, with a big win over Riverview. Something the girls did before every game was praying on top of the catchers head with Taylor Sankey leading all the prayers. Due to some of the players being brought up to varsity, the JV team had to cancel some of their games. The record for the JV team was 5-13. Even though their record wasn't the greatest, what it didn't show was how well the team got along and how well they improved from the beginning of the season.

Rounding the Bases

As the school year was winding down and the students were patiently waiting for summer, the boys JV baseball team was practicing hard and preparing for the season. # We've Got SPIRIT

The JV and Freshman cheerleading squads had two very memorable seasons. Different advisors and a different kind of pep rally allowed the girls to rise to the challenge and adapt a new way of cheering but with the changes came one very rewarding prize. For the first time in years, both the JV and freshman squads earned 2nd place at the E.C.O.L cheerleading competition. However, the hard work put forth to earn that title did not stop the squads from having fun. The freshman squad became very close and helped each other learn to tumble. The JV kept up the tradition of being a tight knit squad with the infamous quote "JV Way To Be". Both squads walked away from the two seasons with new friends, new memories and new skills that they would never forget.

110% ALL THE WAY!!

The varsity football and basketball seasons were not only exciting for the boys playing those sports but also for the girls cheering them on. The varsity cheerleaders grew close over a period of two sports seasons. When not cheering, the girls could be found quoting the infamous Dane Cook or eating animal crackers out of the cheerleading closet. Although the girls did their share of goofing off, they worked just as hard earning third place at the E.C.O.L cheerleading competition. It is safe to say that the varsity cheerleaders gave '110% all the way'.

Back to the 80's

Spring Musical

Mr. Cocker (Mitch Garver) and Miss Brannigan (Sophie McGuire) greet the students on the first day of school!

The boys strike a pose after singing the popular eighties song "Footloose".

Having Mrs Prucha as the director gave the show a new feel, as did performing an obscure musical.-
Senior Rachael Ramos

Cory Palmer (Gabe Incarnato) remembers his senior year of high school, while narrating the story for the audience.

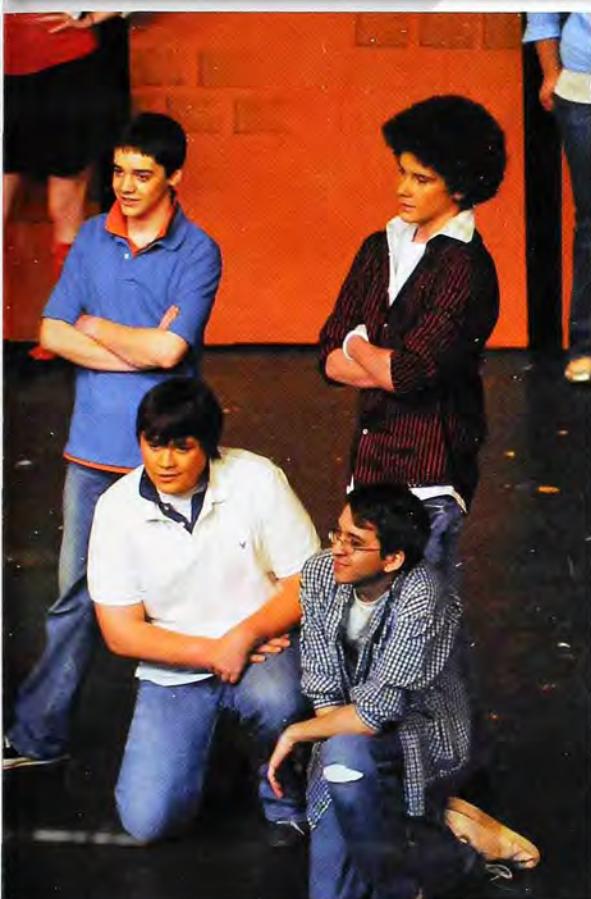

Feargal McFarrin III (Joel Borton) sings about cutting footloose.

Nicole and Jessie concentrate on remembering the dance moves to the opening number.

The energy is contagious as the cast members perform the 80's hit "Kids in America", originally by Kim Wilde.

"My favorite part about the musical was that I got to give Derek Butcher a black eye!"
-Senior Nicole Staley

"The best part of the musical was the cast. It was great to meet people I didn't know!"
-Freshman Chris Pipes

Rachael (Rachael) talks to Cyndi (Aubrey), Mel (Brittany), and Kim (Tracey) about her crazy summer.

CLOSING

INTO OBLIVION

Jeff, Luke, and Joel perform a song by The Police that earns them first place in the show.

Sarah sings a song by Paramore while Kyle accompanies her.

Mr. Claxon, disguised as the Easter Bunny, throws candy to the waiting crowd.

Bre performs one of her own songs for the students.

John Hancock leads his group "Jump Salty" in a Green Day song.

Jill multitasks by singing, playing guitar, and playing the harmonica.

Showing off Their Skills

W

HAT IS SOMETHING THAT CAN REALLY GET A CROWD ON THEIR FEET? AN AMAZING PERFORMANCE COULD DEFINITELY DO THE TRICK. THE CONTESTANTS PARTICIPATING IN THE TALENT SHOW DID JUST THAT. IT WAS KNOWN THAT THE JUDGES WOULD HAVE A TOUGH TIME CHOOSING ONE WINNER. THE COMPETITIVE STUDENTS PLAYED THEIR INSTRUMENTS AND SANG THEIR HEARTS OUT, ALL HOPING FOR THAT ONE FIRST PLACE. JEFF BURGESS, AND LUKE AND JOEL BORTON WERE FORTUNATE ENOUGH TO GET THAT SPOT. WITH ALL THE HARD WORK EVERYONE PUT INTO THE SHOW, IT REALLY PAID OFF.

Nate raps one of his own songs for the audience.

Joel plays drums and sings in his band.

Gina and Dylan pair up to perform "Wonderwall" by Oasis.

Anna sings a Cheetah Girls song as her solo.

Jeff, Tyler, Troy and Jeremy's tune gets the crowd to their feet

Making a Scene

Doing prom workshops really paid off when it was time to look at the list for getting out of school. Only fifty students were excused from school on Friday to put up the props. Towards the middle of the day Friday the setup crew was interrupted by a fire drill that put them on a bit of a delay. On Saturday couples walking in worried about getting rained on. Towards the end some couples weren't so lucky when it came to the weather.

Abby needs some help hanging the prop.

Emily Bichsel is happy she could get out of school to decorate.

Andrew and Zach spray paint the wine bottles for the tables.

Markkie Thomas hangs the streamers.

Bre and Ashley take a break from working.

A group of juniors tape up the props.

Jared and Katie are ready to have a "Bella Notte."

Jermei and Ali are excited to get to the dance.

After Mr. Exley introduced them Dylan and Gina stop for a quick picture.

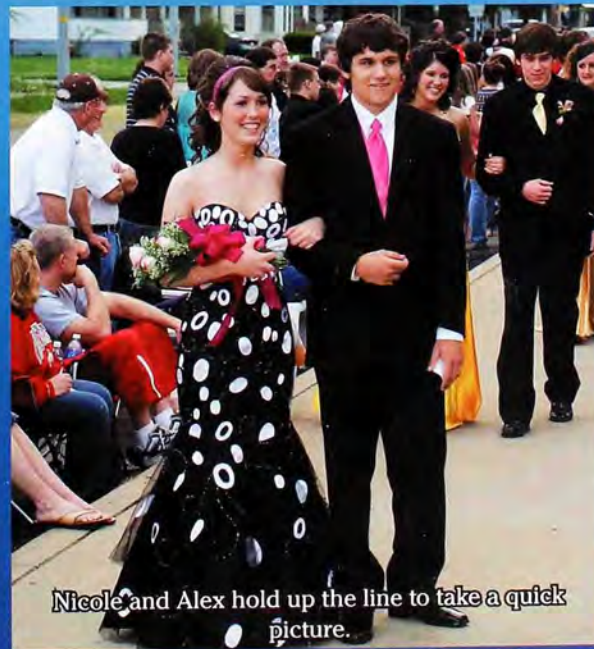

Looking stunning, Ali and Seth are excited to attend their senior prom.

Jake and his date Lindsey are ready to get inside!

Couples began their walk-ins by coming out of the 4th Street doors.

Nicole and Alex hold up the line to take a quick picture.

Trenton and Jess came in before the rain.

Snapshots:

Zach & Olivia smile, Jessica dances,
Matt & Wilma cheer, Christian & Caleb pose

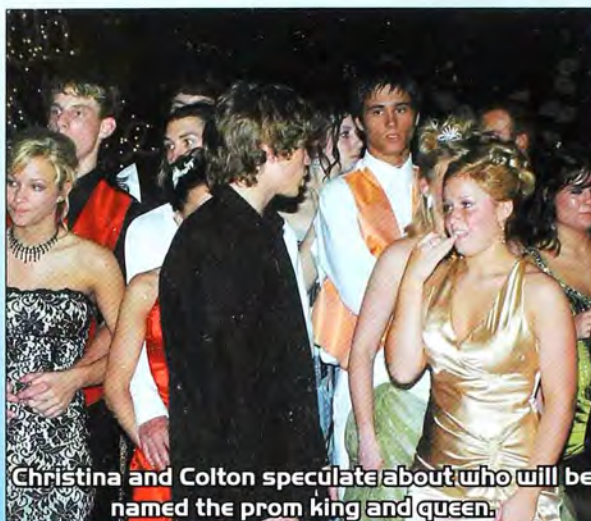

Carly Poorman and her date Jacob Marburger give a thumbs up to the awesome decorations.

Felida Camp leads her friends in dancing the Cupid Shuffle.

Everyone gathers around to watch an extreme dance off happen on the dance floor.

Christina and Colton speculate about who will be named the prom king and queen.

John Bates and Carissa Law enjoy a slow dance.

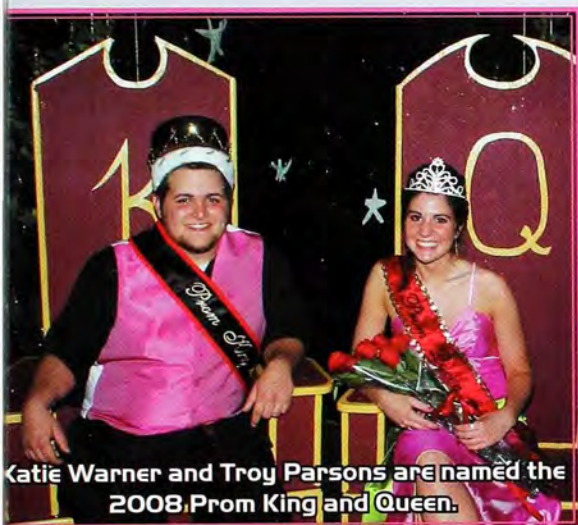

Nate Rucker shows off his moves in a dance off.

A Bella Notte

The theme for the 2008 Prom was Bella Notte, which means beautiful night in Italian. The gym was decorated like an Italian Villa, complete with paintings on the walls and a fake fountain on the floor. The Junior Class worked hard on the decorations with a lot of help from Mr. Rest, Mrs. Findley, and Miss Richardson. At the dance, Katie Warner was named Prom Queen, and Troy Parsons was Prom King. Ali Natoli, Olivia Levengood, Mitch Garver, and Bryant McKnight were the prom court. Everyone had a great time, and will remember that beautiful night forever.

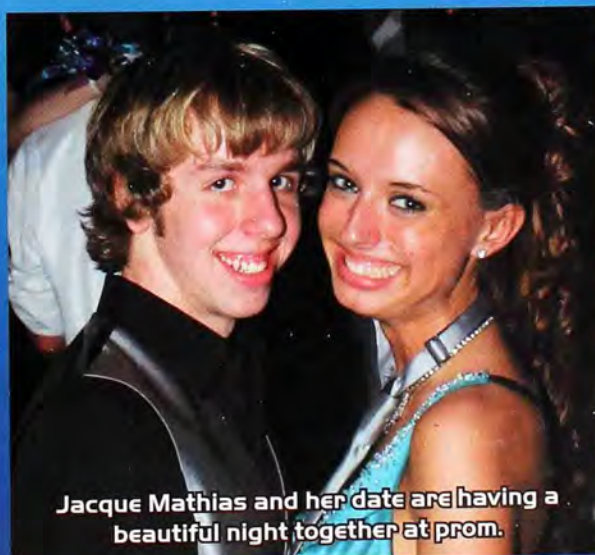

Katie Warner and Troy Parsons are named the 2008 Prom King and Queen.

The dance floor is packed with people having a great time and dancing the night away.

May and Kacey are getting ready to hit the dance floor.

Jacque Mathias and her date are having a beautiful night together at prom.

Gaming Around

The theme of post prom was Candyland, a fun filled land of sweet times. As students walked in they got tie-dye shirts and lanyards as favors! Making their way through the school there were colored squares on the floor, just like in the game! The high school cafeteria was filled with prizes, games and food and the middle school gym had the usual blow up toys.

Kale Horvath gets tangled up on his way down the iron man slide.

Caleb Celuch rocks the drums on rockband!

Katie, Chelsea, and Emily try to find a table to eat.

Jessie tries to get the pingpong ball in the yellow cups!

Kylie and Joey wait to play cornhole against Mr. Sundheimer and a friend.

Rachel is excited to go run through again!

Casey almost falls off his stand.

Phillip is determined to make this putt!

Jared loves cornhole.

Essie is destroying Zach in guitar hero!

Peace Out

As graduation neared, the Class of 2008 became more and more nervous to be high school graduates. The evening turned out to be very successful and the weather was perfect. Speeches in the evening included remarks from class president Katie Warner, Invocation from Stephan Sabo, Declamations from Valedictorian Gina Edwards and Salutatorians Tanya Reichert and Lindsey Merryman, followed by a Benediction by Allie Enold.

Kaylie Ganyard looks to be more than ready for graduation.

Caleb Baker receives his honors cords from school board president Don Kemp.

Katie Warner compared the classes' achievements to a heaping pile of pancakes.

Valedictorian Gina Edwards reminisces about the fun times they've had as a class in her declamation.

Members of the senior class anxiously wait to hear their name to receive their diploma.

Caleb Celuch is proud to have his diploma.

Salutatorian Lindsey Merryman gave a very powerful declamation to her fellow classmates.

Jill Fleming pauses to get a photo with her diploma.

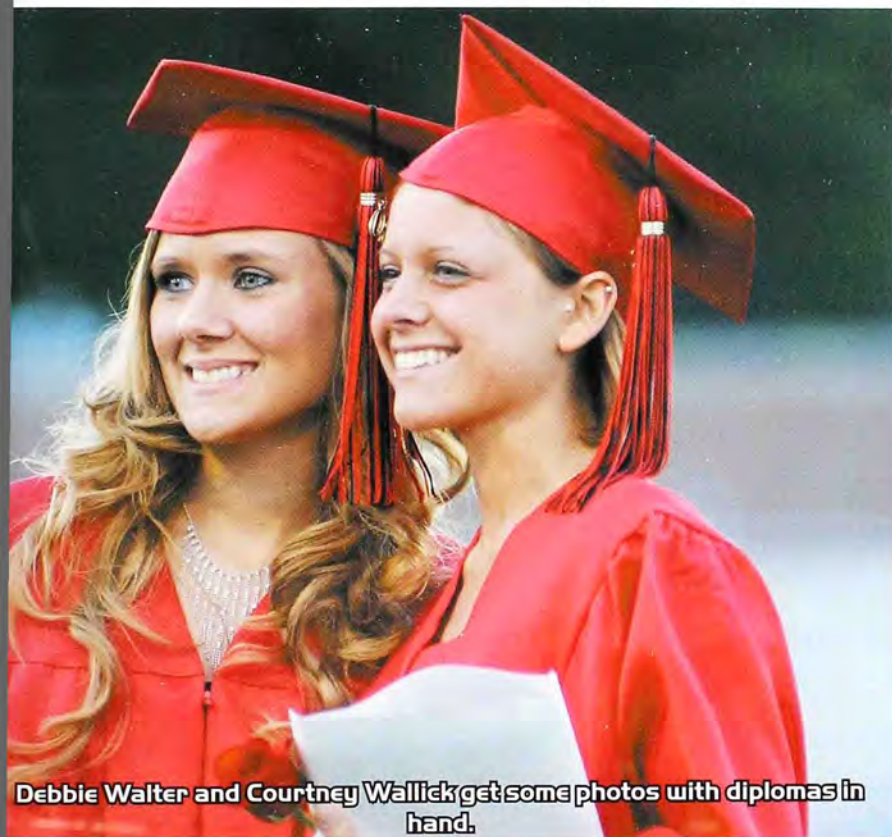

Salutatorian Tanya Reichert delivers her religiously inspirational declamation to the class.

Stephan Sabo was chosen by the class to give the invocation.

Debbie Walter and Courtney Wallick get some photos with diplomas in hand.

Sam Weisgarber and Jessica Campbell are excited to finally be high school graduates!

Lee Gopp will never forget the day he became an NPHS graduate!

Kacey Kamban passes in front of the rose-covered '08 sign.

Taylor Barnett can't wait to celebrate his graduation.
