Ones to Remember

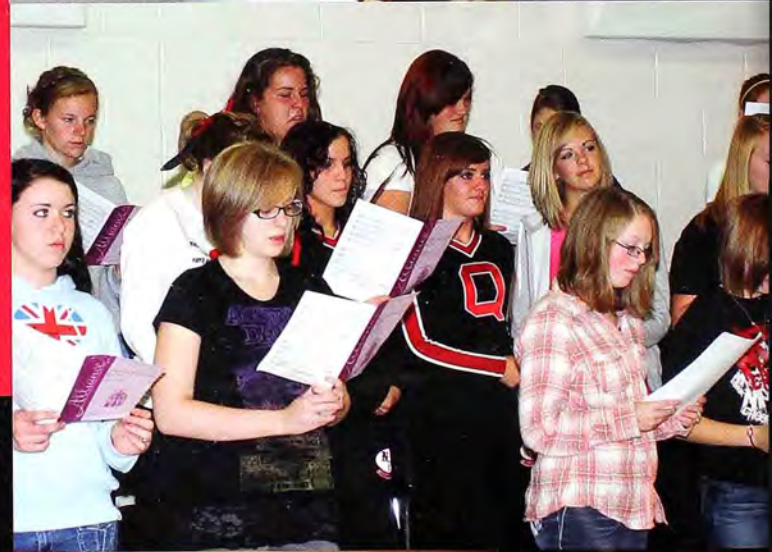

ONE

• One

Most people thought of the year as two thousand and eleven but for those of us attending NPHS we looked at that eleven and saw number ones. A year so good that it was number one twice. A year that included "LeBron", trapped miners, a brand new performing arts center, and a new governor. We were changing too, new friends, jobs, schedules, and attitudes were just a part of growing up in two thousand and "ONE • ONE."

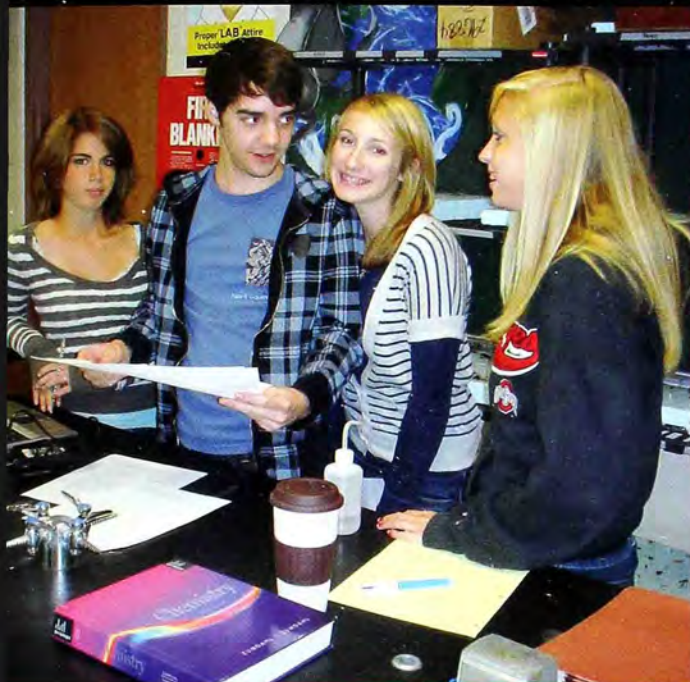

ONE FOR ALL

The new year brought new challenges. The first thing we faced were the 7 different bell schedules. Just when we thought we had it down, it was Wednesday and the periods were all shorter with the new period "X." Honor's study hall was nice for the Jr.'s and Sr.'s, letting them sleep in or leave early, but for most of us, it was school as usual. We all shared the triumphs and defeats together. We truly were, one for all.

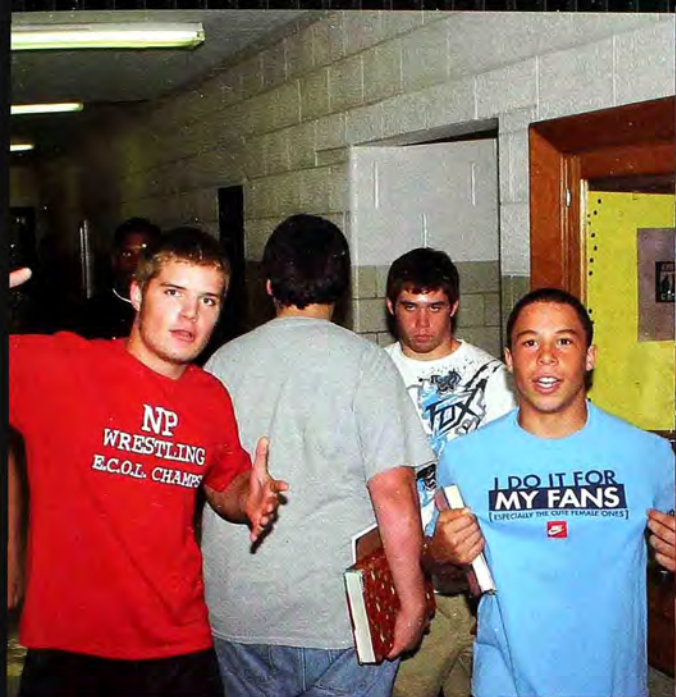

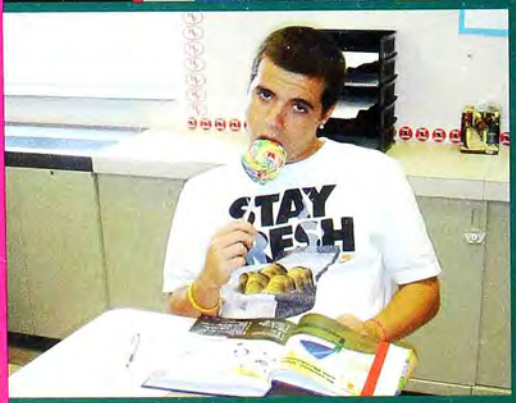

ALL FOR ONE

Sometimes it is the little things that hold us together. From small improvements in the student parking lot to mission statements plastered all over the school walls, there could be no doubt that when you entered NPHS you were in Quaker Country.

To add more excitement to after school activities, the Red and Black Pack joined forces with the Wolfpack, traveling to various sporting events via the spirit bus. From bands playing before the big game to trips abroad, we were all in it for each other.

Tanner and Ben are pumped up for the game.

Bear Hunt

Encouraged by the homecoming pep rally on Friday afternoon, the varsity football team won a defensive battle against the Riverview Blackbears. Seniors Tiff Davis, Jackie Cornell, and Steph Norman waited anxiously for halftime to see who would be selected homecoming queen. With a 21-0 lead at the half, due to an exciting 61-yard touchdown catch, Tiff Davis was crowned queen. The team held on to their lead, and came away with a 28-7 win.

Hawaiian Vibe

On October 2, 2010 at 8:00pm, the doors to the high school gym lobby opened. As the students filed in, they were handed leis to incorporate the theme, "Late Night Luau." Homecoming came with several supprises: candy necklaces, CDs, and t-shirts were thrown out by the DJ, a blow up screen showed the music videos, and Hawaiian decorations were on display. The surf boards, palm trees, liki heads, favors, balloons, and a large volcano set off the Hawaiian vibe. Luke Yurich was announced homecoming king along with Tiffany Davis as the homecoming queen. The king and queen shared a slow dance to "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" while the student body joined in. Because of the decorations, loud music, dance-offs, and the smoke machine, it was a night the students will never forget.

e've got Spirit!!

The whole school came tumbling out of bed Monday when Phila students aimed to "Put Dover to Sleep" with their pajamas, night gowns, and slippers. The tables were turned Tuesday when everyone came dressed for success, and ready to "Put Dover to Work." The craniums were working hard Wednesday as Phila High was transformed into a bunch of nerds with high socks, high pants, shirts tucked in, and of course the infamous "nerd" glasses in which they were easily able to "Outsmart Dover" with. Finally everyone confused Dover by wearing wrong season clothing, mix matching wild colors and prints, and turning shirts and jeans inside out. Yet the week was not complete until the whole school saw red and black, and Friday that was accomplished with the complete participation of the entire student body reppin' their Quaker attire from head to toe!

Senior Luke Yurich is really confusing Dover by wearing his clothes upside down.

Spirit week brings together a wide variety of occupations: truck drivers and nurses??

Sara Gerber works during her lunch to raise money for the Student Council competition against Dover.

Billy Holmes and Tanner Curry are rockin their nerd gear for the day.

Sean Flynn and Andrew McKnight sell the BEAT DOVER tee shirts while encouraging the theme, "Put Dover to Sleep."

Senior Josh Clark goes all out Friday in his red and black by supporting not only the Quakers, but Elmo, his favorite Sesame Street character.

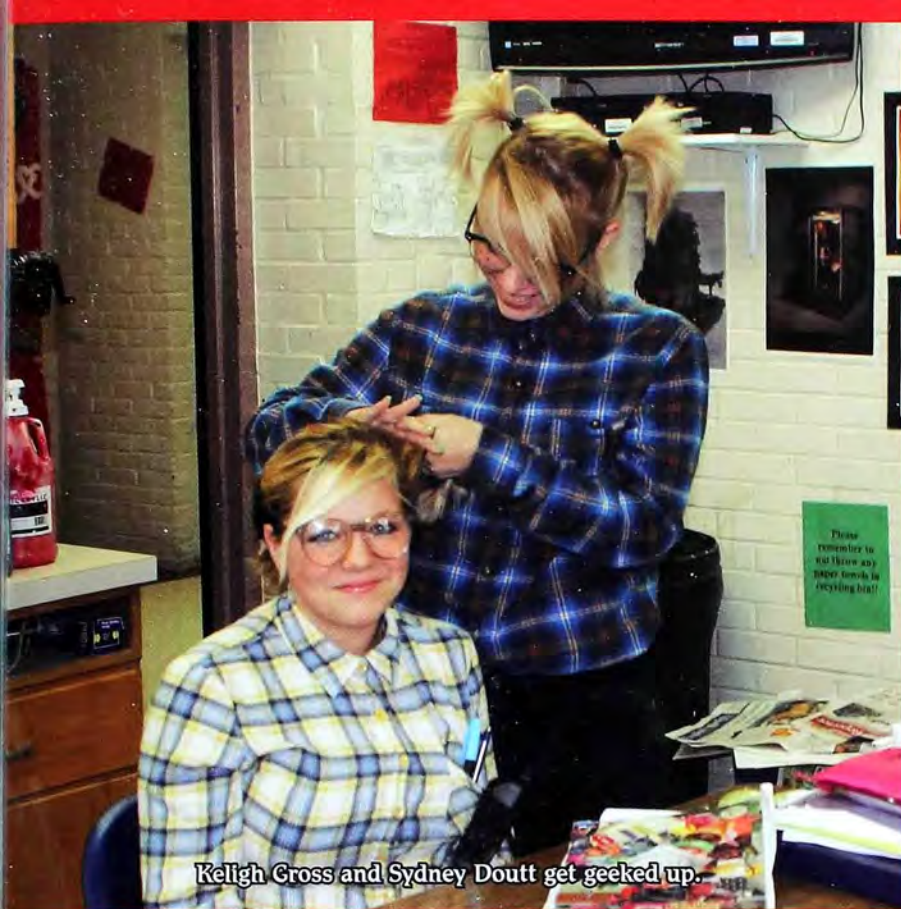

Even teachers and other faculty members get into spirit week.

Seniors, Jackie Cornell and Lexi Stein help count money for the student council competition between Juniors and Seniors for a double lunch period.

Mr. Claxon's study hall is outsmarting Dover with style.

Keligh Cross and Sydney Doult get geeked up.

April Fouts is in the red and black spirit by painting not only her face red and black, but her hair too!

Mr. Houmard "Puts Dover to Work" by dressing up in his cowboy gear.

Senior twins, Kim and Kelly Rippeth, are already in the right spirit to "Put Dover To Sleep."

Joel Borton dresses as a doctor so he can "Put Dover To Work."

Senior Gabe Incarnato shows his spirit by dressing up every day of the week.

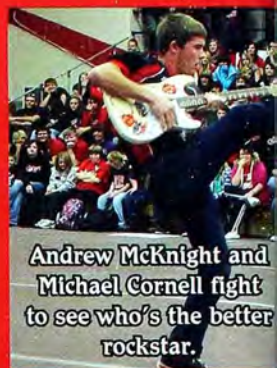

Freshman, Daniel White chooses to be a super hero and "Put Dover To Work."

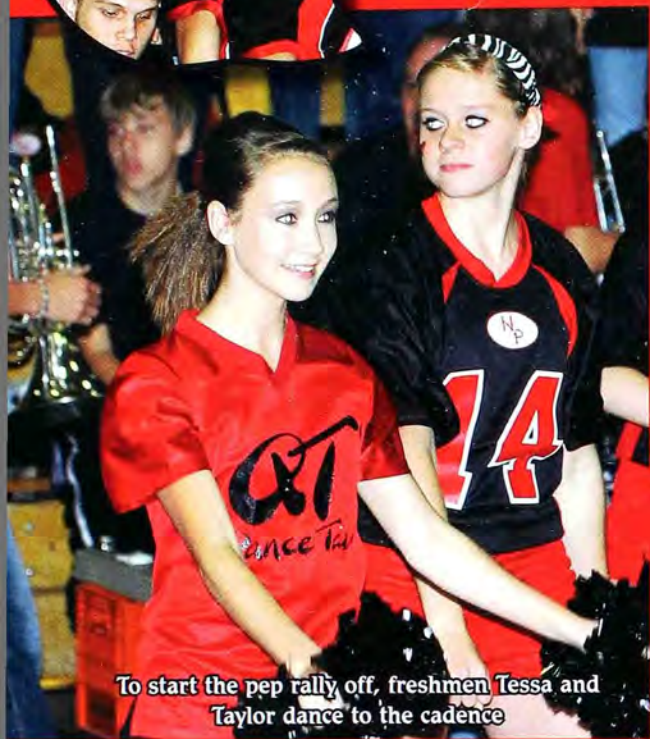

The seniors celebrate their last Phila-Dover Week!

o Back Home

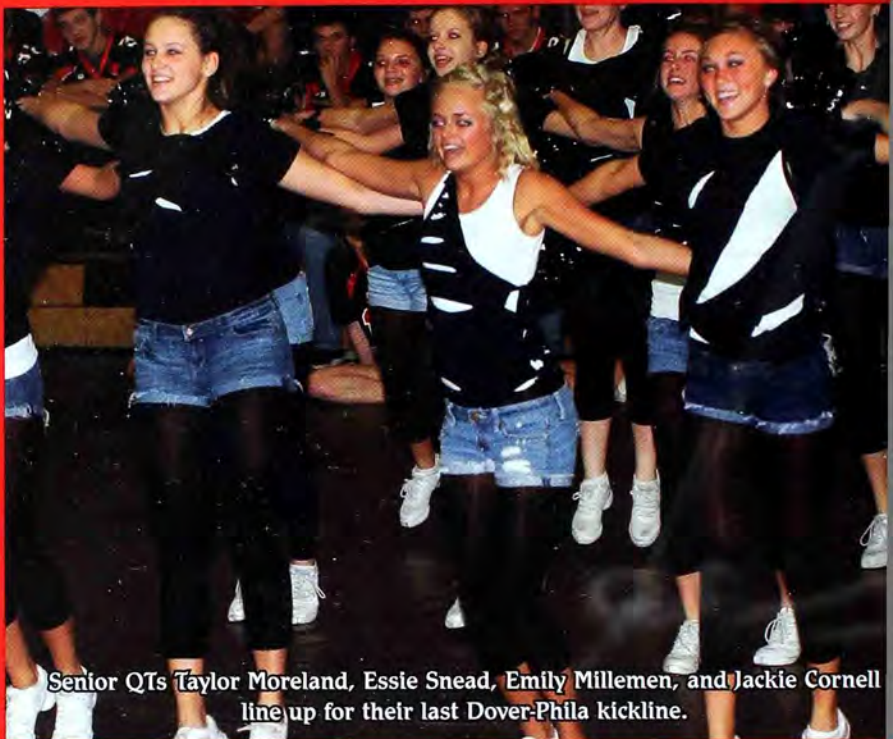

After the band played "I've Got a Feeling" and the Delphian Chorale sang "7 Nation Army", everybody was ready to send Dover back home with a loss. The cheerleaders, along with Kim Rippeth and Sean Flynn who were named Most Spirited, got the student body rooting for a win over Dover. The Varsity football team was pumped up by the pep rally and ready to play their hardest against Dover.

Andrew McKnight and Michael Cornell fight to see who's the better rockstar.

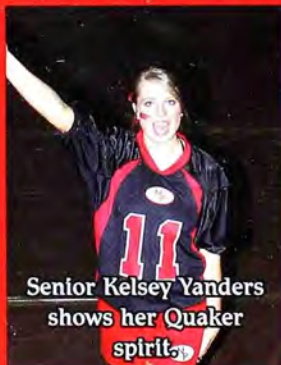

To start the pep rally off, freshmen Tessa and Taylor dance to the cadence

Senior QTs Taylor Moreland, Essie Snead, Emily Millemen, and Jackie Cornell line up for their last Dover-Phila kickline.

ard to Swallow

Walking into battle Friday night, we were hit with the bright lights and the anticipation of the game ahead. As the student sections sang and jumped around, the team exploded through the tunnel. The Quakers marched down the field to take the early lead. The team tried everything they could, but were unable to prevail, losing 43-7. At the end of the game, students formed around the football players on the field to join the band in one last playing of our Alma-Mater. Although the final outcome was hard to swallow, everyone appreciated the team's efforts.

Leon Dunwoody is shocked to find that, by telling a funny story, he has caused Zach Dunwoody to die of laughter.

The entire cast joins hands for the final bow at the performance exclusively for senior citizens.

Myrna (Brooke), Nola (Lydia), and Harold (Alex) suspect that Monroe (Blair) may have murdered his own wife.

lockwork

Just like clockwork, each time the grandfather clock chimed, yet another victim was claimed by a mysterious murderer when the drama students took the stage for the fall play. They played various members of the crazy Dunwoody family who all wanted the family inheritance. The Dunwoodys didn't have much luck staying alive long enough to get their hands on it, but luckily, when the curtain fell for that last time, all the cast members were very much alive and ready for lots of applause from appreciative audiences.

When Cousin Zach, played by Isaac Kneuss, suddenly dies, the Dunwoodys are glad that they can collect their inheritance.

Sarah and Gabe both deny that they are the murderer.

Jill Phillips, Sarah Calhoun, Logan Fadeley, and Lilia Reber discuss who might be killing off all of the Dunwoodys.

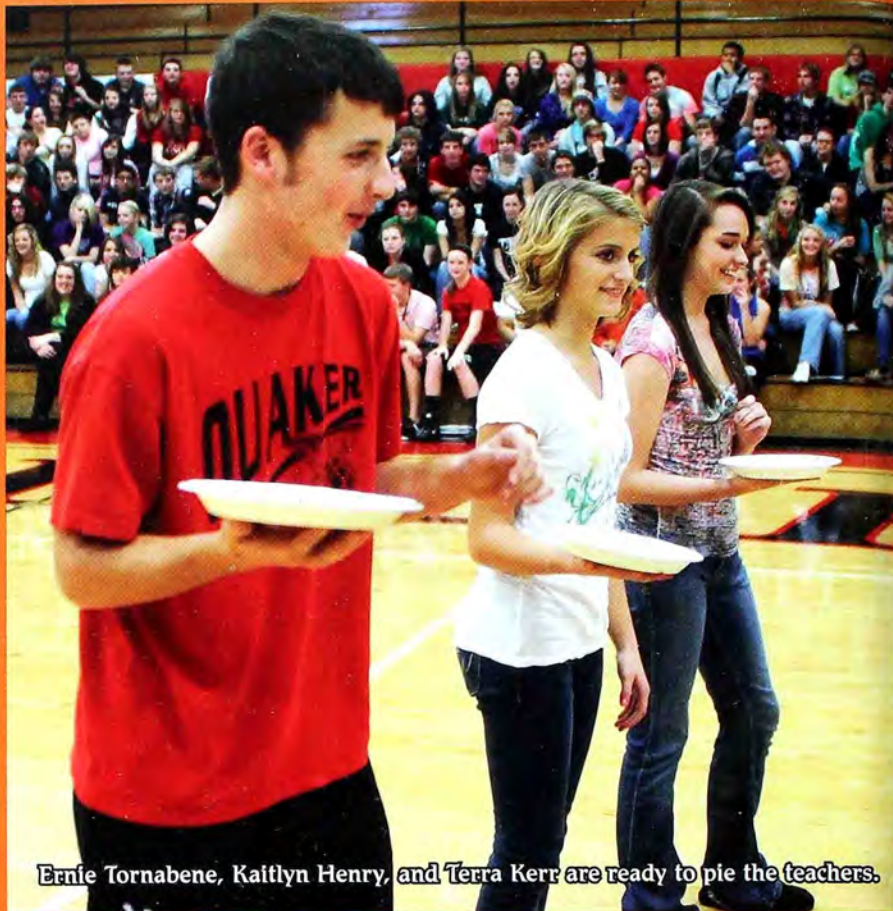

Deputy Constable Crow, portrayed by Taylor Rummes, tries to arrest the ancient grandfather clock for committing murder.

Shane Dyer, Doctor McMurry, tries to help the family figure out who the killer is, but isn't much help.

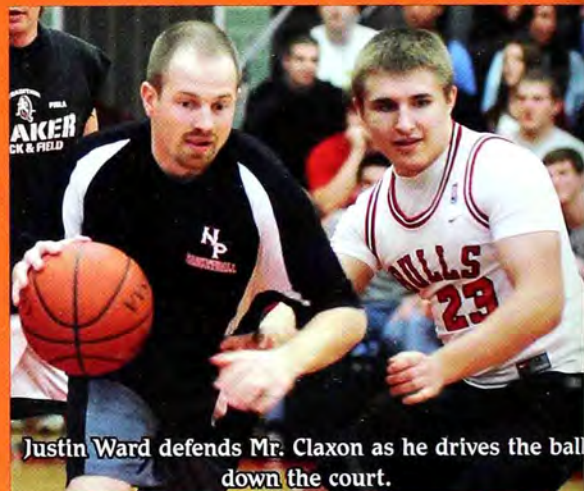

Sean Flynn gives a thumbs up to start the Student-Staff basketball game.

Ernie Tornabene, Kaitlyn Henry, and Terra Kerr are ready to pie the teachers.

Jackie Cornell gets in triple threat position and searches for a teammates to dump the ball off to.

Justin Ward defends Mr. Claxon as he drives the ball down the court.

Bouncing toward break

The student staff basketball game was on November 23rd, a great way to begin Thanksgiving break. Although the staff lost, they put up a tough fight against the students. Mr. Leggett, Mrs. Wisintainer, and Mrs. Pry raised the most money making them the pie in the face winners. Terra Kerr, Kaitlyn Henry, and Ernie Tornabene had their raffle tickets drawn and had the honors of pieing the teachers in the face. The students and staff bounced their way to Thanksgiving break and showed off a few moves on the way.

Caleb Velleca gets a quick steal.

Wilma and Taylor watch as Catie shoots the ball for two points.

Alyssa Hanshaw tries to steal the ball from Mrs. Kerr.

Kaylee Kelley, Abby Eichsel, and Holly Welfley laugh as the students battle the staff in an exciting game.

Andrew McKnight's shot can't be blocked.

SNOWDAYS

"On snowdays I sleep in until I feel like getting up. I look outside to see how much snow we got, then I eat and do nothing for the rest of the day." - Cassidy Abel

"On snowdays I sleep in until ten o'clock. I go downstairs and eat breakfast in front of the T.V. Then I call a friend and we go sled riding at my grandparents house. We sled for hours and we don't stop until we are absolutely frozen! After that we go home, change out of our drenched clothes, and drink some homemade hot chocolate with marshmallows." - Emily Warner

"I like to start off my snowday with a slow rise followed by a hot shower. Then a day of arctic adventure with my friends." - Nick Withem

"Since I am from Guatemala, I have never seen snow before. So on snowdays I enjoy playing in the snow, but it is very cold outside. I come inside to warm up and play some video games." - Juan Lopez

"I spend my snowday snoozing on the couch. If I am not snoozing I am hanging with my best friends Cassidy and Alyssa." - Clarissa Mutti

The school is empty while students enjoy their snowday.

Alexa Oswald enjoys her snowy and cold adventure to school.

Catie McCarron carefully walks to her car.

Aaron and Lily hope for a snow day.

"On my snowdays I sleep in until I can't sleep anymore, then I get a big breakfast! At somepoint I bundle up and go outside to roll around in the snow like the old days, but that never lasts long. Then I'm back inside under my blanket watching a movie with my boyfriend." - Katarena Mathews

"On snowdays I sleep in and usually hang out with my friends most of the day. We watch T.V. at one of our houses or we play games." - Kaitlyn Menges

"On snowdays I usually sleep in. After I'm up I go play Call of Duty with my friends or I just watch T.V. all day." - Alex Carroll

"I usually skate on my snowdays but if I feel like a sloth, I will sit by my fire with a warm glass of milk and read my leather bound copy of Stephen King's 'The Mist'." - Orion Reber

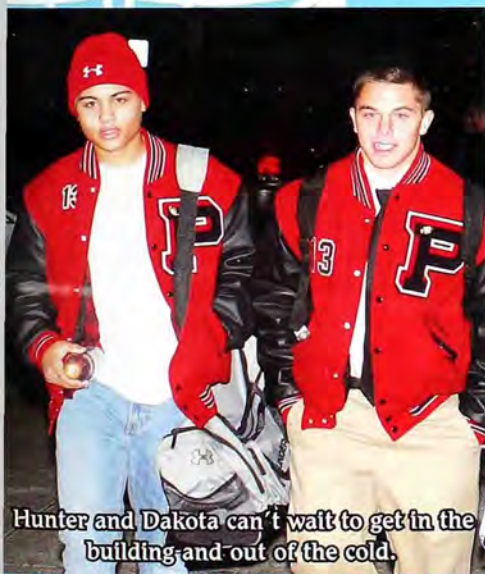

"I sleep in pretty late and watch television or go to my friends house." - Mackenzie Roe

"I always spend my snowday by sleeping in late. Usually I play PS3 and watch T.V. Sometimes I like to ride my fourwheeler in the snow." - Kaleb McAbier

"I usually sleep in and stay in bed. I am on Facebook or playing my PS3 most of the day. I also listen to music." - Tanner Wherley

Hunter and Dakota can't wait to get in the building and out of the cold.

The students at New Philadelphia High eagerly awaited a call from Mr. Alsept. As the phones rang and the televisions scrolled the students cheered with excitement. Three calamity days did not stop them from wishing for more snow. Whether they needed to flush an ice cube down the toilet, wear their pajamas backwards, or put a spoon in their pillowcase, they would do whatever it took to get a snowday. No school meant sleeping in and relaxing. That is what every student wants, a snowday.

WACKY WEDNESDAYS

"I loved Wednesday schedule because I got to go to Science Club and listen to Mr. Houmard's cheesy jokes." - Lydia Kneuss

"Every Wednesday I head to Mr. Zehnder's room. It's kind of a free time because no one really does any work!" - Bailey Fitch

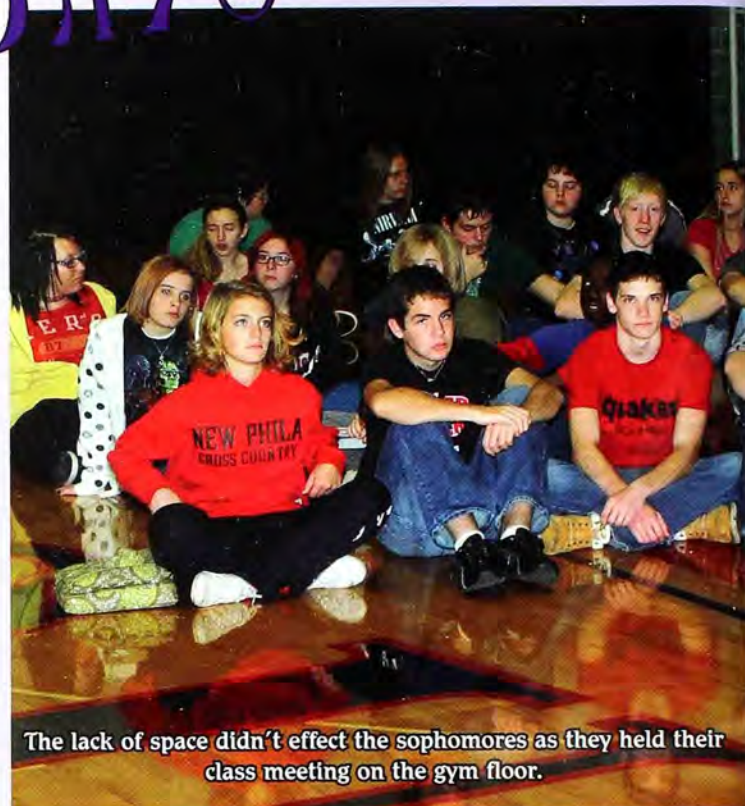

"My friends and I just walk around the whole period. Since most of us aren't in a club or have a meeting we just burn 40 minutes." - Chelsea Potts

"Walking around, occasionally working on homework, or even just leaving all together, I like period X!" - Kendra Morrison

"I use the extra time to go to the band room and play some music with my friends. I like getting out of class to be able to do whatever I want." - Sean Reynolds

The lack of space didn't effect the sophomores as they held their class meeting on the gym floor.

You could always go to the library.

Catie loves extra free time on Weds.

During NP /dov week students had a chance to make signs.

"I go to the library sometimes. It's nice to be able to go down there and start a new book every week." - Cash Scott

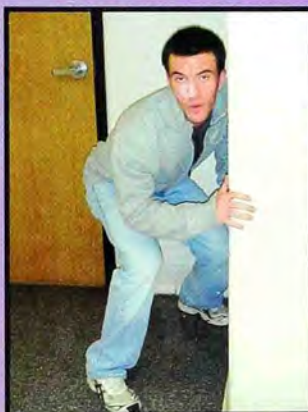

"After having Pre-Calc 3rd period, I'll go back to Mr. Young's room during 5X and try to make sense of the homework!" - Trista Fox

"I am vice president of the science club so the time helps me stay ahead with those assignments and I also write newspaper articles if I have time!" - Tora Wilson

"A lot of the time you can find me wandering the halls dodging cameras and the occasional administrator!" - Tanner Graham

"On a normal Wednesday during 5x I tutor some kids in math. But I'm not complaining because it shortens the rest of the class periods!" - Makenna Cooke

"I'm okay with the Wednesday schedule. The 8 less minutes I have in each class makes the day go by faster!" - Steph Sopher

"My friends and I find a classroom and sit back and relax! We might have homework but nothing really gets accomplished that period!" - Chaz Colucy

Change is a word that can come off sour to some, and because of a different schedule at least once a week, every student in the school was in a frazzle! As the year progressed, the change became less of a hassle, and the new period "X" proved to be an asset instead of cause havoc in the school. Students gathered once a month for class meetings, and writing labs were offered for extra help in English. Clubs gathered in almost every room, which opened up a lot of opportunities for more kids to get involved. However, most students tried to avoid doing anything during period "X". Wacky Wednesday was a success. After all, who doesn't like having a free period to roam around... I mean learn more!

ingle Ball Rock

After the win against Meadowbrook the student body was ready to work up a sweat on the dance floor in celebration. The chilly weather, cold snowfall, and bitter breeze all set the perfect atmosphere for a Christmas dance. Student Council sponsored the event, and even hosted special guest, Santa Clause who was more than happy to get pictures with all the good little Quakers. With the "shake but no grind policy" established students had to be cautious that they were not the one to be kicked off the dance floor for dancing like Nikki Manaij!

Demetrius is excited he could show off his moves on the dance floor.

Ethan Kneppelt, sporting his santa hat, got all the ladies!

Brandon made a quick stop at Wendys before he got his groove on.

Joel Borton gets down with the "Get Down".

The sophomore girls really know how to be "jerks"!

The girls basketball team definately showed Christmas spirit by attending the Jingle Ball together as Santa's reindeer for Mr. and Mrs. Clause.

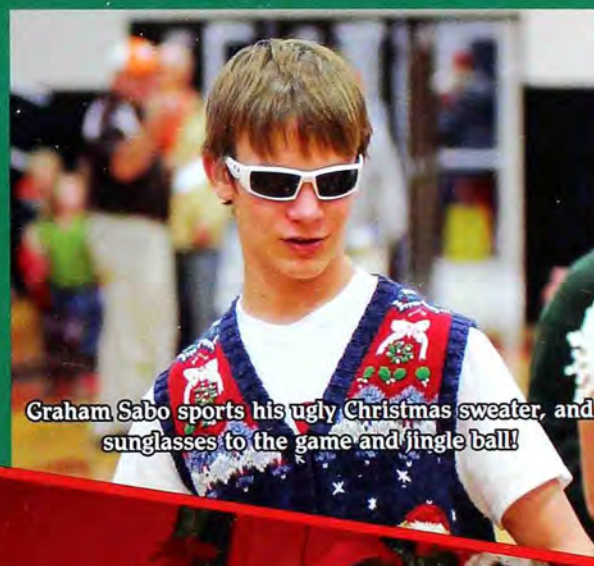

Santa Claus is thumbs up for Christmas!

The Cupid Shuffle gets everyone working on the dance floor!

"Flst pumpin" was done at its finest during the Black Eyed Peas song, The Time of My Life.

n a mission

Got spirit?? Well the New Phila student body sure does! With a spirit bus attending almost every away football game large crowds flooded the opponent's stadium with one mission, to bring Quaker pride and spirit all four quarters of the game. The administration sponsored a Quaker tee shirt, tailgates, and music throughout the day Friday, and on the bus to the game. Faculty participated by volunteering to chaperone the bus ride, and even new cheers were added to the games. Perhaps the most exciting was the "Roller coaster" led by senior Sean Flynn, which challenged the other side to do the same. Also during home games a tunnel gave a new entry for the fighting Quakers and a jump around pumped up not only the fans, but the team as they entered the last quarter of the game. The spirit was not only evident at football games, but at volleyball and soccer matches and at the end of the fall sports season it was a mission complete.

Emily Lappin is all decked out, even her necklace shows quaker pride!

Michael Bazzoli is too busy reading the newspaper to even notice the opposing team is being introduced!

MARCHING BAND

The band focused on connecting this year in their half-time show. During the shows at home, large orange circles were pulled out to spell "Connect" across the field. Band, drumline, and colorguard members worked hard to really connect the audience to the show. The Marching Quaker Band also represented New Philadelphia at the away varsity football games, where they displayed their talents for other communities.

Even with the return of veteran coach Brian Rotunno, the girls soccer team was unable to find a winning formula. Boys SOCCER

The boys soccer team had an exciting season finishing 10-6-1. The team began the season with an unexpected bonus; four foreign exchange students came to New Phila and all joined the soccer team. It was their first experience in a non-club setting. They joined a young team which featured only 3 seniors. The highlight of the season was beating Dover at home 3-1 after tying 2-2 earlier in the season. First team ECOL honors went to Ernie Tornabene, Collin Huth, and Thiago.

Varsity TENNIS

The girls tennis team had a rough season, but finished with a winning record of 7-5. Throughout the season the girls had some ups and downs, but they always stuck together. By going to the drive-ins, and out to eat, the team bonded and stayed close. With all the laughs that were shared and the tears that were shed, it was truly a unique season.

The "upset" is how most would define the NPHS swim team. For the first time in many years the boys owned and won the ECOL competition, and although coming in 3rd the girls team was finally considered a threat to the league. Highlights of the year included taking first at the Zanesville Rosecrann Invite out of thirteen teams. Also early in the season the team competed at OU for the Athens Invitational where the boys team placed sixth, with the girls following in tenth. The boys actually took first overall at Sectionals, and the girls took 3rd. Well over 20 events placed for districts, and at the end of the day the boys 200 free relay advanced to state. At state they broke the record and placed 12th at pre-lims and moved onto finals placing 12th. Junior Tanner Stokey, and Senior Collin Huth both broke records for the team. Allyson Renner, gets ready to quickly hand off the baton.

Girls TRACK

The girls 2010-2011 track team placed 3rd in ECOL. Junior Kaitlyn Menges qualified for the State meet in both the shot and the discus. Throughout the year Kaitlyn Menges broke her own record over and over, improving her throwing distance each week. Like all of the spring sports there were several cancellations and a lot of wet practices. A young team was led by its 5 seniors, Taylor Moreland, Catie McCarron, Bree Miller, Danie Slentz, and Emily Milleman.

Gabe Incarnato leaps to earn the title of ECOL, Districts, and County champion of the 110 high hurdles.

Boys TRACK

From worst to first is the best way to describe the boys track team. Despite having finished last at almost every meet as freshman, the group of nine seniors lead the team to a first place finish in ECOL, and District Runners-up. Ben Lawver, Caleb Velleca, Justin Ward, Derek Ledsome, and Gabe Incarnato were all event champions at ECOL. A select few even earned special awards at the end of the season, these included: Ryan Kilpatrick-Outstanding Distance, Derek Ledsome- Outstanding Sprinter, Andrew McKnight-Outstanding Field Events, Ben Lawver-Dave Milburn Award, Caleb Velleca-Coach's Leadership Award.

Varsity & JV SOFTBALL

For the first time the ECOL divided the schools into two divisions, dividing the large and small schools. Softball season usually a busy schedule playing games almost every day, but in place of games came rain. Going into the tournament draw, the girls had only played around half of their games! Although the team had long periods of no play, the girls picked up the tempo when they could and showed everyone what girls softball is really about. With a full crowd at every game, New Phila softball was put back on the map. ECOL Player of the Year Maddy Shelley led the team at the plate and on the mound to a first place finish in the ECOL Scarlet Division.

Varsity & JV BASEBALL

There was a lack of baseball for New Phila fans during the season. Rain ruined the field on a daily basis for both JV and Varsity. The players were itching to get out of the gym and onto the dirt. Varsity finishing the season 10-4 and JV 3-8. The team beat rival Dover 3 times in the season finishing them off in the tournaments by mercy. With only 2 seniors, Nathan Staley and Tanner Graham the young team battled to a second place finish in the ECOL.

QT DANCE TEAM

Whether they were dancing at football games, basketball games, or pep rallies, the QTs always succeeded in entertaining the crowds with their unique and intricate dance moves. They gave back to the community by teaching elementary school girls a special dance and performing with them at a basketball game. They ended a great season by winning first place at the state competition.

CHEERLEADING

Freshmen & JV

The freshmen win at ECOL was a main accomplishment for the girls. With a new coach, new standards were set that created a new found desire to win. The J.V girls came short of placing at ECOL but recieved much praise for their routine and effort involved. The Saturday mornings were a dread for the JV after cheering home varsity games, but the squad fought spirit with a smile. The freshmen enjoyed cheering for a generally succesful basketball and football team. Both the squads were close during the season sharing practices, and Quaker pride was shown all year long.

Best of luck!

Varsity CHEERLEADING

The varsity squad most definatley went "110 all the way" by winning for the first time ever the ECOL cheerleading competition. At the beginning of the season, the main goal set by the seniors was to win the ECOL, and the work began in July when former New Phila cheerleader Ryan Ress came to teach the squad the routine in a one day camp. Practice was long, tedious, and exhausting yet the cheerleaders came out on top and would all agree if asked that their work was all worth it in the end. Other highlights in the year included the youth cheerleading camp, and the spirit rally in the summer where the girls showed off their skills early on. The season ended with a first ever cheerleader and QT banquet especially personalized for the girls where they were thanked for the spirit that they brought throughout school year.

CLASSES & CLUBS

Science Department

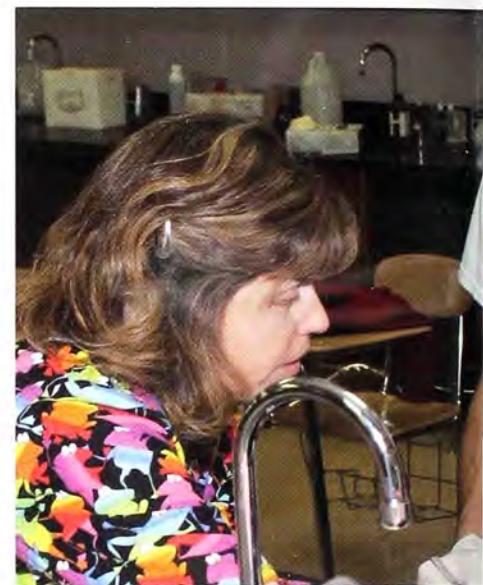

Disecting cats, solving "murder cases", creating bio fuel, making guitars, and understanding different concepts such as effusion and dif-fusion all involved the science classes at NPHS. The recent add to the department was the course "Forensics and Genetics" taught by Mrs. Pry and Mr. Houmard with a focus on investigative science and in depth bi-ology. The school expanded their knowledge of the world around them through these classes and with the new additions to the schedule the students could further their education in science through senior year.

Kea Tarrance is determined to balance the ring on the pop bottle.

Physics presents many different labs that help students understand the laws of science.

Mrs. Petruccio expands on the elements to her freshman third period class.

Garrett and Greg are determined that their car will go farthest at the end of the day.

Junior, Michael, finishes reading the pre lab for Mrs. Pry.

Even during Phila Dover week Casey, Lydia, and Julie are in the learning mood.

Ron and Graham want everyone conscious of the safety first rule during labs!

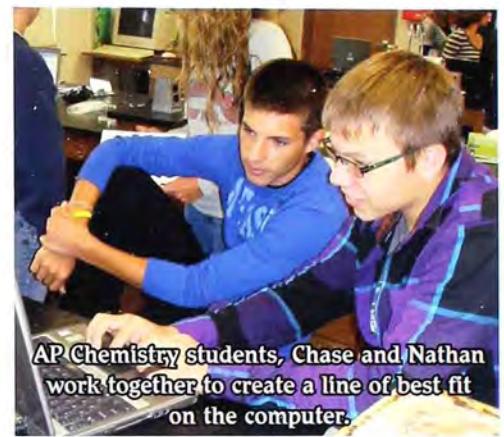

Elaina Burner, is always up for another physics problem.

Disecting cats is the most looked forward to part of Mrs. Pry's Anatomy and Physiology class.

Freshmen, Melany Baldez, is hard at work creating a car in Mrs. Petruccio's class.

AP Chemistry students, Chase and Nathan work together to create a line of best fit on the computer.

Nick prefers to watch Collin do his AP Biology homework... Like a good student would.

Social Studies

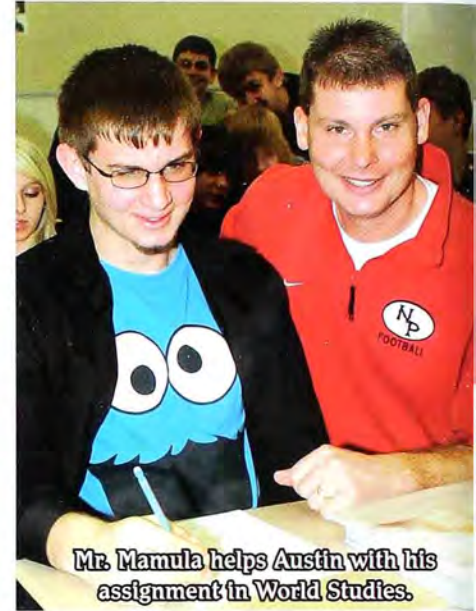

From World Studies to Government to Psychology, students at NPHS learned about how people live and organize themselves in our society. With a goal of creating well-informed citizens, the social studies teachers utilized maps, games, and technology, in addition to the traditional textbooks, to help their students learn. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Sundheimer even started a Mock Trial club to let students further explore the laws.

Mr. Johnson shows Kyle where to find the information he's looking for in his book.

Kyle Furbay and Tristan Laughlin play "Risk" in Mr. Smith's class.

Arts & Language

Classes such as art, choir, band, and foreign language let students at NPHS express themselves and their creativity. Playing instruments, singing, painting, drawing, and even learning a new language are involved in this. Languages such as Spanish, German, and French are included and let you learn about new cultures and customs. Fine arts & Languages let your imaginations run wild and are an important part of NPHS!

Yearbook Publications

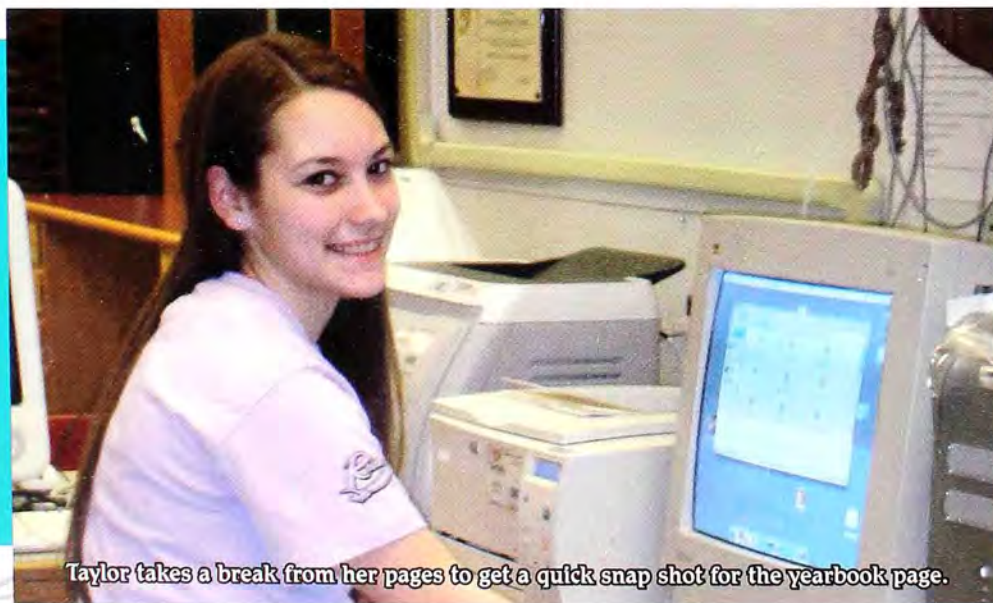

The yearbook staff had a total of seven hard working girls. In yearbook we had many deadlines that needed to be met to make a successful yearbook. We all worked together to create great looking pages and a clever theme. Yearbook didn't stop there, during the summer we sold ads to businesses all around the county and you will find them at the bottom of most pages. Yearbook is a great way to create memories for NPHS.

Alyssa was a later addition to the yearbook class.

Student Council

Student council is a club that involves the student body with their school. Throughout the year the school donated to many charities including Share a Christmas and the Musclar Dystrophy Association. The group put on three dances: homecoming, a Sadie Hawkins dance, and the classic Jingle Ball. Side walks and signs were painted, a student-staff basketball game and powderpuff football game were also both hosted by student council. The year ended with a trip to Cedar Point for those who earned enough points.

Choir

The NPHS choir department offered 5 different choirs to be in. The choir students spent their class time preparing themselves for upcoming performances and events. Chris Pipes, Ben Potts, Lily Reber, and Sarah Garbrandt performed at the All State Choir in January. Gabe Incarnato was selected as an alternate. All had to audition and were selected out of 1000 applicants. All five choirs performed a concert in the park to close out the year.

Drumline & Kaleidoscope

The NPHS drumline and Kaleidoscope traveled all over the Midwest displaying their one-of-a-kind shows "Off the Chain" and "Walking in Memphis."

They improved their scores at every competition and battled to first place finishes. The talented musical groups competed at Central Crossing MEPA, WGI Midwest Regional, and MEPA State Championships. With a high score of 94.69, the drumline snagged the bronze medal at WGI World Finals and claimed the title of 3rd best drumline in the world.

Sophomore Johnna Fox performs her role as the top bass drummer, leading the drumline to a first place finish.

Derek Spinell, snare drummer, really gets in to playing his friend's bass drum.

The Kaleidoscope members twirl their flags to the music at their competition in Dayton.

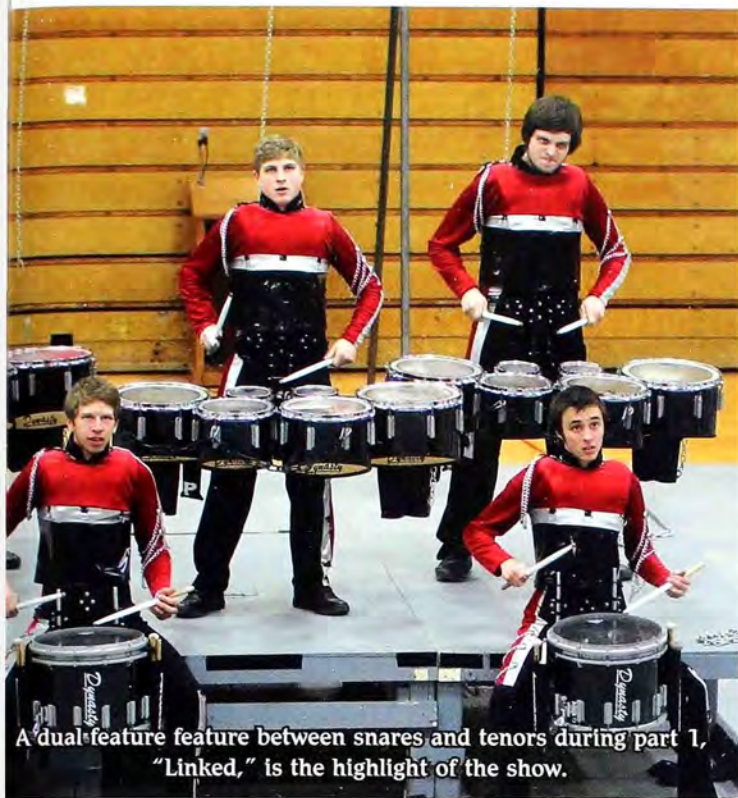

Ethan Ault loves being in Kaleidoscope!

The Kaleidoscope gathers for a team chant before their performance.

The bass drummers end the show with a bang during the closing segment, "Chain Reaction."

A dual feature between snares and tenors during part 1, "Linked," is the highlight of the show.

During the ballad of the show, the drumline kneels around the cymbal players who go off the chain."

Caitlin, Farrah, Bailey, and Katelyn end their show by connecting with the audience.

Senior Fred Lab, center snare drummer, uses a chain to add visual appeal to the drumline's show "Off the Chain."

Kaleidoscope captain, Kelly Whitman, dances during their show "Walking in Memphis."

GODSPELL

With a small cast of only 10 members, the drama students told the story of the teachings of Jesus. Most of the cast portrayed themselves as homeless people, but Joel Borton acted as Jesus and Gabe Incarnato doubled as John the Baptist and Judas Iscariot. Through comedy and drama, the students shared life lessons with their community.

Logan, Hannah, Luke, and Bradley listen to Jesus tell a parable.

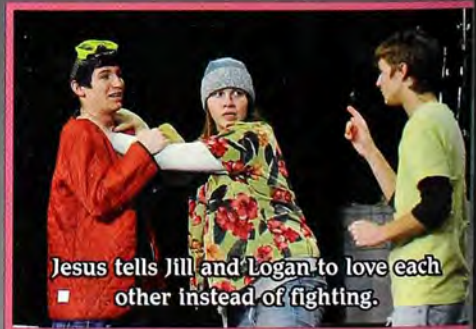

The cast of Godspell sings "Day by Day."

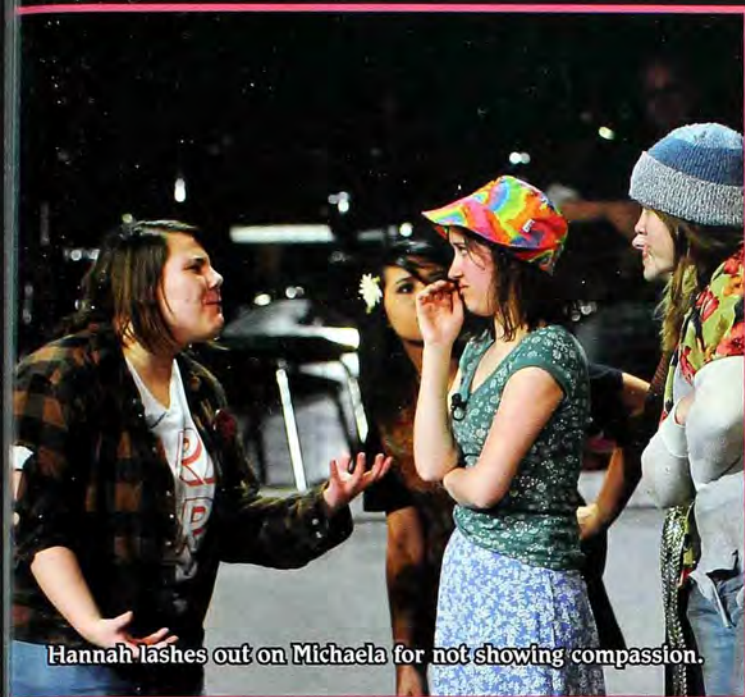

Gabe, playing John the Baptist, baptizes Joel Borton, who portrays Jesus.

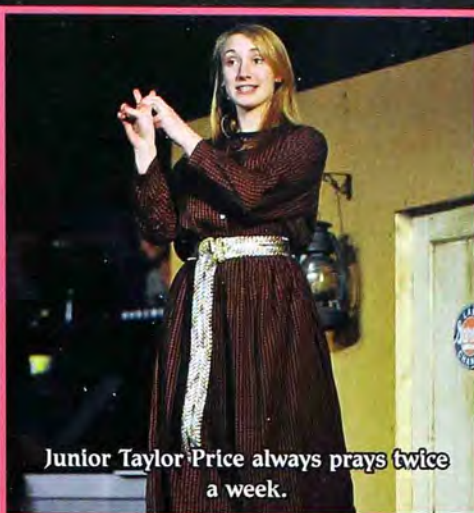

Michaela wants the sword to be her gift from Jesus.

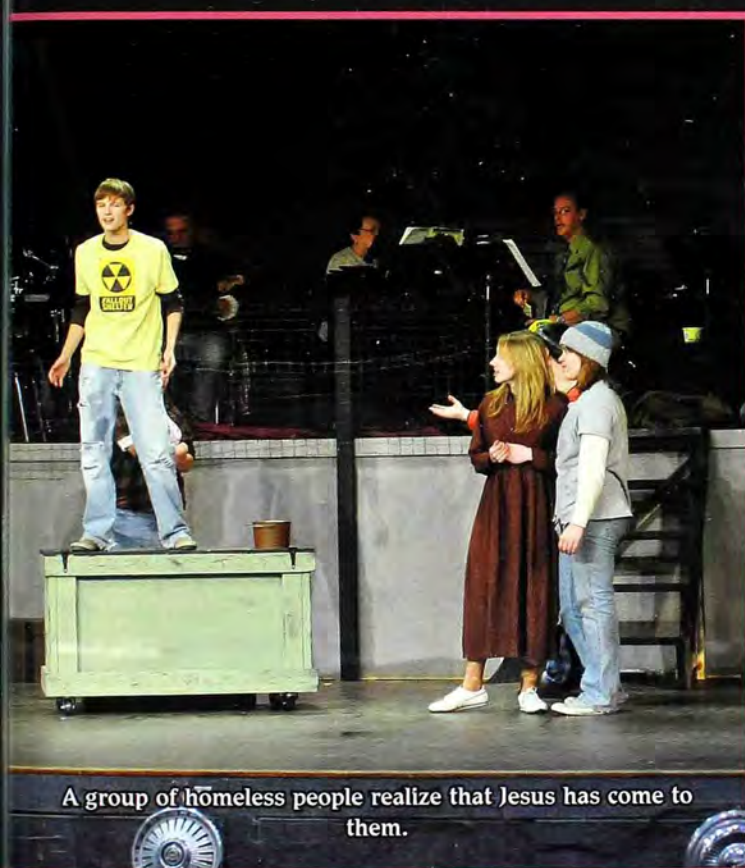

Jesus tells Jill and Logan to love each other instead of fighting.

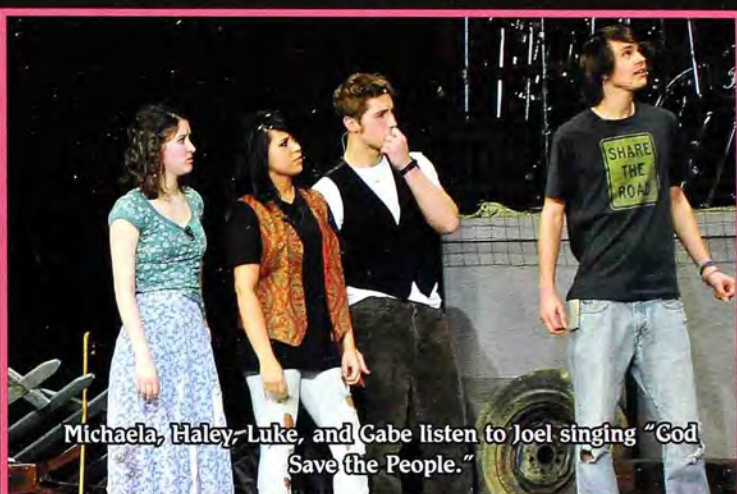

Hannah lashes out on Michaela for not showing compassion.

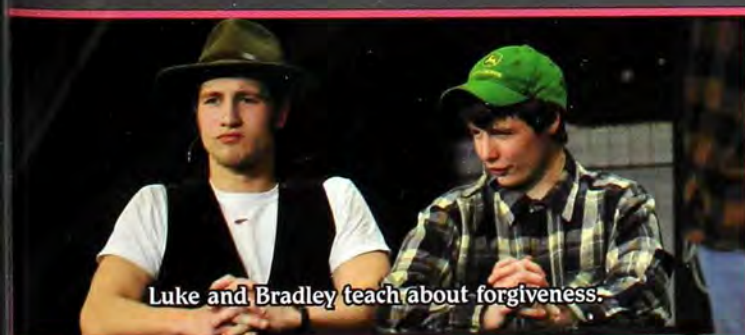

Junior Taylor Price always prays twice a week.

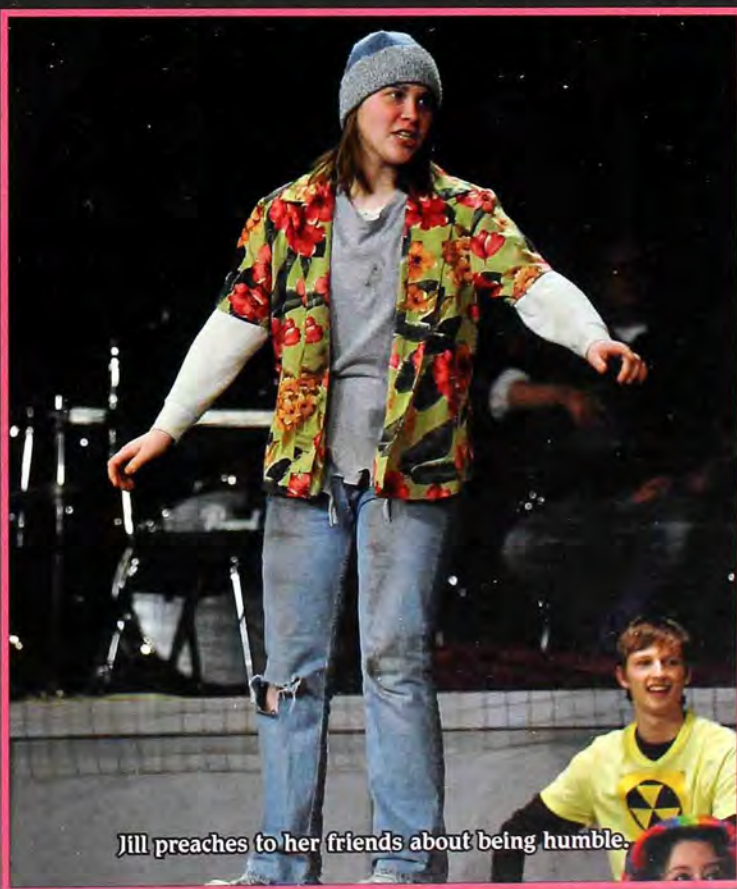

A group of homeless people realize that Jesus has come to them.

Michaela, Haley, Luke, and Gabe listen to Joel singing "God Save the People."

Luke and Bradley teach about forgiveness.

Jill preaches to her friends about being humble.

TALENT SHOW

The talent show hosted an overwhelming amount of talent with a full set of seventeen acts. The teachers got things started off by modifying some Pink Floyd lyrics to "Hey students leave those teachers alone!" From that point it was one great performance after another. The judges had such a hard time picking a winner that Andrew McKnight, Jill Phillips and Lilia Reber all tied for first, David Marshall, Luke Yurich, and Mark Bragg tied for second, and Elle Stokey earned third.

Seniors Nick, Chase, Caleb, Ben, and Ryan are Andrew's biggest fans.

Mr. Johnson reveals that he raised the most money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association in the bunny contest.

Morgan Spahr sings "My Immortal" by Evanescence

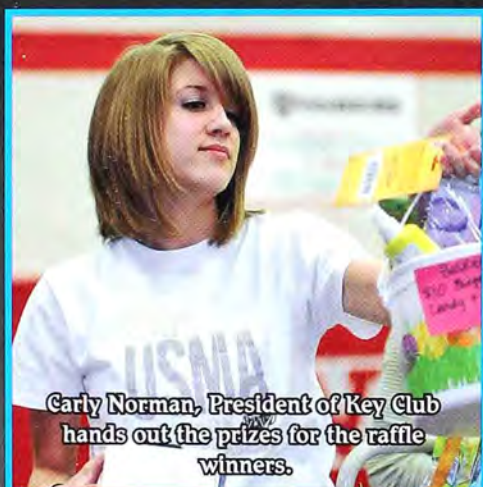

Senior April Foutts sings a religious song

The staff started the show with a skit to "Another Brick in the Wall" by Pink Floyd.

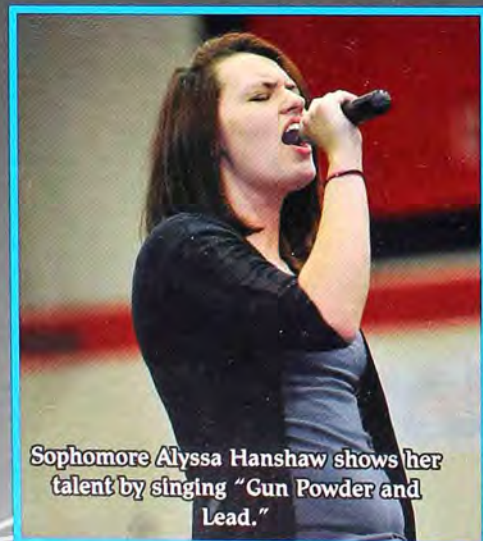

Logan Fadeley plays and sings "Yeah Toast" With his toaster.

Carly Norman, President of Key Club hands out the prizes for the raffle winners.

Mrs. Pry and the judges, Mr. Daniels, Mrs. Miller, and Mr. Rippeth, applaud for all of the acts.

Sophomore Alyssa Hanshaw shows her talent by singing "Gun Powder and Lead."

Alec Worth sings and plays the piano.

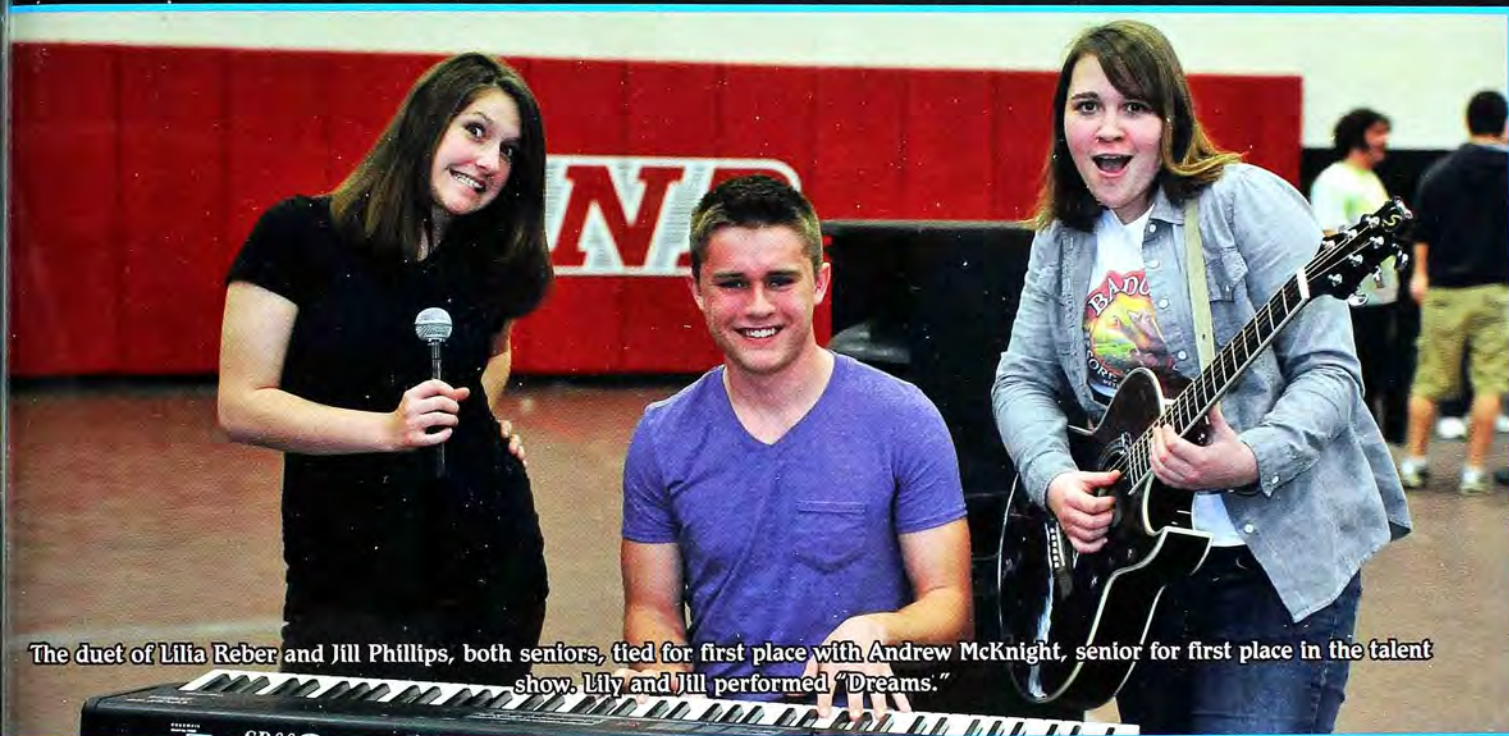

Mr. Furbay introduces Andrew Zimmerman as he starts his comedy act.

Sophomore Orion Reber plays "Dream On" by Aerosmith on the piano.

The entire student body is amazed to see how much talent their classmates have.

The duet of Lilia Reber and Jill Phillips, both seniors, tied for first place with Andrew McKnight, senior for first place in the talent show. Lily and Jill performed "Dreams."

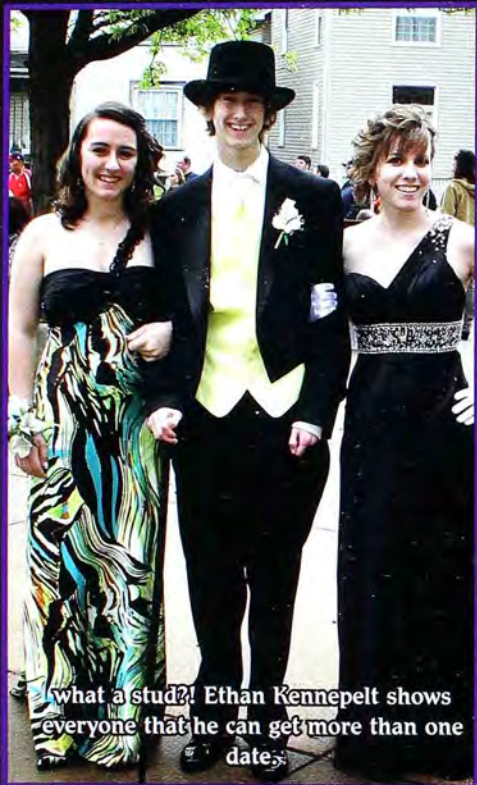

QDA student Mark Bragg, freshman David Marshall, and senior Luke Yurich tied for second place. Mark played guitar and sang "Remembering Sunday," David played piano while blindfolded, and Luke played guitar and sang "Stairway to Heaven."

Elle Stokey puts on an energetic performance of "Firework" by Katy Perry to receive third place.

UNA NOTTE D'GIOIA

La Pizzeria in Canton was filled Saturday night with couples ready to celebrate prom '11. Family style buffet served everyone with lasagna, chicken, and veggies. After dinner, everyone was ready to dance, and they crowded onto the dance floor. Luke Yurich was crowned King and Kea Tarrance was named Queen in a ceremony held at the start of the dance. Cameras captured moments and played music videos on the big screens that were placed on each wall. The night closed with a senior dance to the song "Don't Stop Believing" by Journey, and a quick realization that the year was coming to an end.

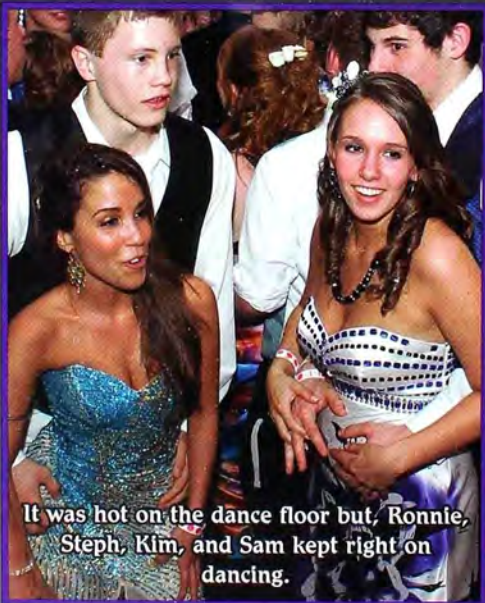

What a stud! Ethan Kennepelt shows everyone that he can get more than one date.

Kelly Rippeth and Joel Borton

Lexi Stein sings along with the song.

It was hot on the dance floor but, Ronnie, Steph, Kim, and Sam kept right on dancing.

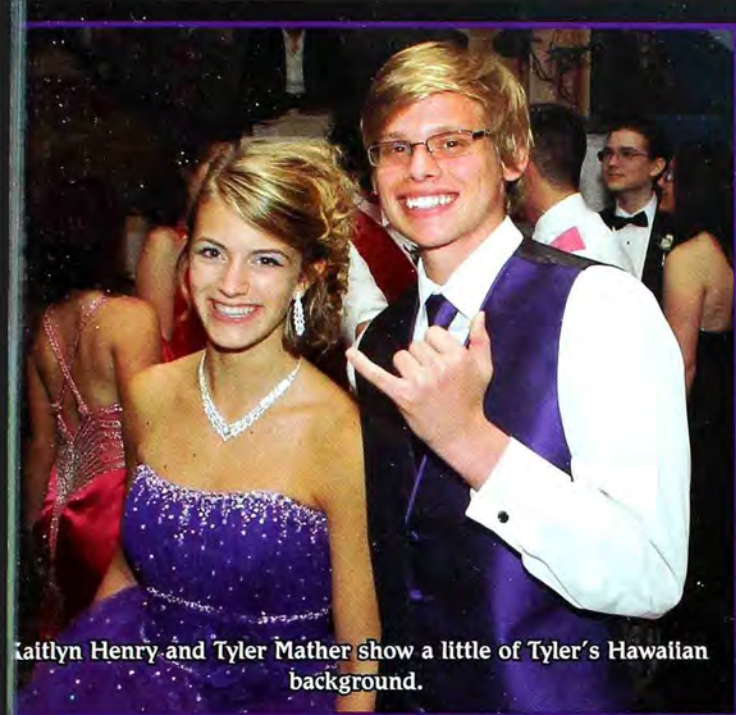

Jess and Tony stand out in the crowd with their bright yellow attire.

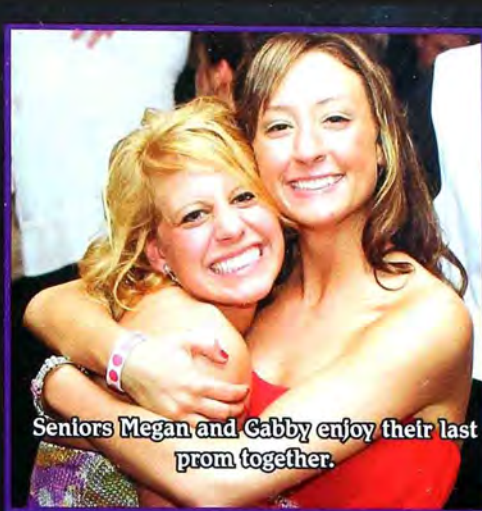

Jackie and Cole groove to the "Cupid Shuffle".

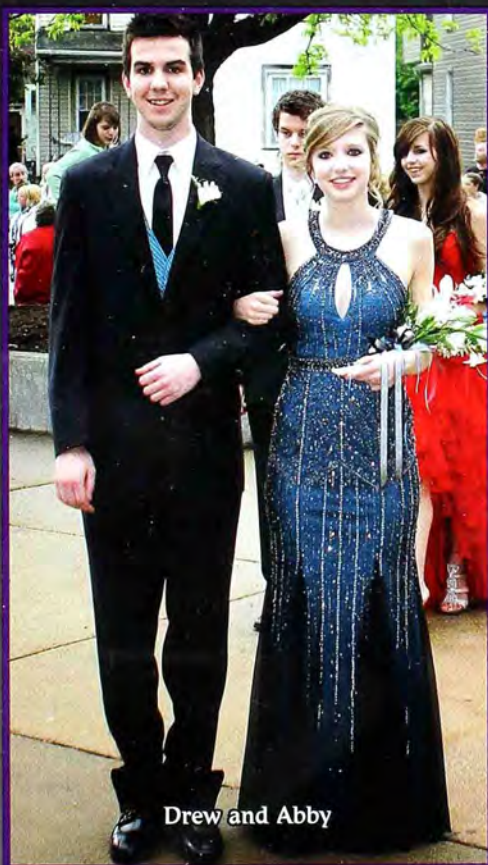

Allison and Andy

Kaitlyn Henry and Tyler Mather show a little of Tyler's Hawaiian background.

Seniors Megan and Gabby enjoy their last prom together.

Drew and Abby

Kea Tarrance and Luke Yurich take a quick snap shot after being announced the 2011 Prom King and Queen.

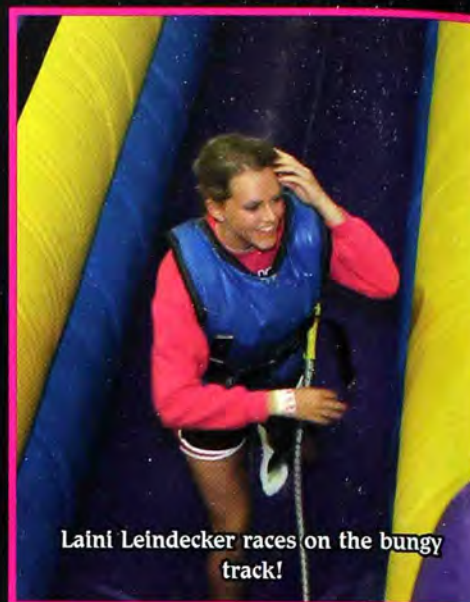

The DJ's called all the "Spice Girls" up to sing along.

Josh and Bree give thumbs up to the DJ's for playing their favorite song.

GAMBLIN' ALL NIGHT

You could bet that NPHS students had a good time at the post prom "Casino Night". The junior class started preparation early, and were able to enjoy a full day off of school Friday to transform the gym into a wanna be Las Vegas. Hundreds flooded into the gym feelin' lucky, with a late night of fun that lasted until two in the morning. Riding the electric bull, playing in the wind machine money grabber, and enjoying the ups and downs in gambling all went on during post prom festivities. Euchre, Texas Hold'em, Bingo, and poker took over the gym and tickets were given to winners. The more tickets you won the more chances you had to win prizes. Everyone was hoping to get their name pulled for the TV, iPod Touch, or digital camera.

ACADEMIC AWARDS

Long, strenuous hours of hard work and studying truly did pay off at NPHS. Teachers and faculty were able to show their appreciation for the students' good grades and achievements at two Academic Award banquets. Seniors enjoyed a private banquet in the evening while the freshman, sophomores, and juniors all were honored at an assembly during school. Perfect attendance and Academic Challenge also were recognized. The senior's ceremony closed with the naming of valedictorians and salutatorians, and a thank you to all of the students.

IN OUR TIME

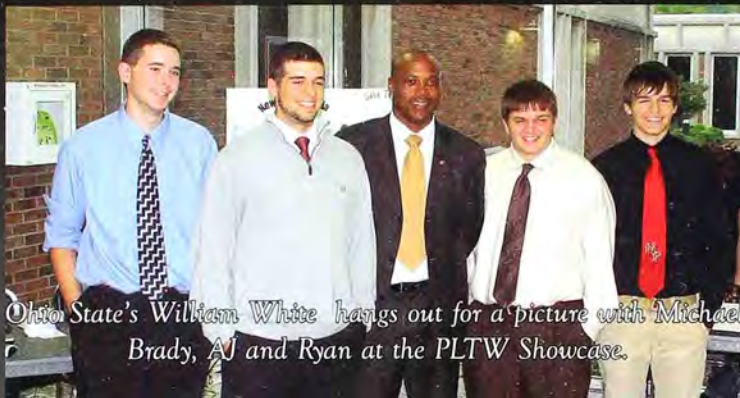

Big games were replaced with big plans for the future, as we wondered where the year had gone. It seemed like only yesterday that we were learning to drive, getting ready for our first big dance, studying for our first finals. At first we just thought of it as leaving a building, but when it was time, we realized that we were leaving a part of our life. As we left NPHS for the last time we knew that no matter where in the world we would spend our days we would never forget our time as the "Class of 2011".

Seniors listen to graduation instructions!

Soon to be seniors Gabby and Marie can't help but smile.

Have you had a kindness shown

Pass it on;

'Twas not given for thee alone,

Pass it on;

Let it travel down the years,

Let it wipe another's tears,

'Til in Heaven the deed appears

Pass it on.
