Creating our... LEGACY

Telling our... STORY

STUDENT LIFE

Writing Our Story

Classes, games, dances, and friends, made school more than just a building that we attended during the day. All year long we created memories and authored the story of us.

The Quakers fans were a sight to see as they lit up the stands, and the boys lit up the field.

The boys ran out of the tunnel to get pumped for the game.

Sophomores Noah Begue and Nate Voll turn the Quakers on.

Students get competitive while they play a game at the pep rally.

With another touchdown on their minds, the Quakers get ready to make the next play.

Freshmen Hannah Rhoads and Allie Jerkovic enjoy the tail gate before the game.

Cheers and cheerleaders never got tired of running down the track after a score. Thirty-one points later everyone was out of breathe though!

Human Highlighters

Homecoming is an exciting time of the year, for upper and lower clasamen alike. We all piled into the hot gym to watch the pep rally but the heat didn't keep us from showing our Quaker spirit. Afterwards, we all came together to kick off the exciting weekend by throwing on our neon gear, and heading for the stadium. We lit up the night in our bright attire, as our boys played an impressive game against Tallmadge. We won, with a final score of 31-10. It was definitely a highlight of the season, and the year!

Senior Emily Tetzloff gets crowned by the previous queen Aleah Sexton.

Seniors Kelci Kinsey and Tess McDade hold their signs up high for the players to see.

The football players hype up the crowd, with some help from one of the cheer leaders megaphones.

Sophomores Dylan Mears, Payton Satterfield and Addison Anderson sit back and enjoy the pep rally.

Sophomores Kate McEwan and Rachel Anderson wait for the fun to start.

As the crowd chants and cheers behind them the boys take down Fallmadge.

Macy Lautenschleger dabs the night away with her group of friends.

Seniors Molly, Dalton, and Brandon and his date enjoy their last homecoming dance.

Bella, Derek, and Adam break it down on the dance floor.

Seniors Ellie, Emily, Sarah, and Madi pose together.

Doug and his date are looking fantastic in red while heading to the photobooth.

Freshman Jaden, Lizzie, Paige, Julia, and Emma smile for their first homecoming.

Everybody throw your hands up!

Isaac and his friend pose after they get out of the photobooth.

Skylar and Ryleigh are enjoying their wonderful night.

Sweet Dreams

As expected, the students had a great time at the annual Homecoming Dance. The gymnasium was decorated with props like as you would've seen in your dreams. With the theme "Teenage Dream" the students danced the night away, all sweaty and hot, to the song by Katy Perry. Homecoming Queen Emily Tetzloff was crowned at the game the night before, and Richard McEwan was crowned king at the dance. With the music playing, students dancing, and a couple huge fans, everyone had a great night.

On Monday, the 7th period classes decorate their doors for a contest. This class was ready to "Boo Dover" at the game Friday night.

In The Spirit

For the Dover-Phila football game, students dressed up to get into the spirit. The week was full of festivities to excite the community for the game against Dover, including a door decorating competition, a pep rally, and a tailgate. On Monday, students stayed in their pajamas for school to "Put Dover to Sleep". On Tuesday, the quakers went all in and dressed up in jerseys. On Wednesday, there was a class war to see who had the most spirit. Freshmen wore yellow, sophomores wore pink, juniors wore blue, and seniors wore tie-dye. On Thursday, students wore Christmas clothes or their ugliest sweater. On Friday, the day of the game, they dressed up in red and black to show their Quaker pride.

Up, Up and Away

With the student section holding over 200 red, black and white balloons, the Quaker pride was sky high. It was a very intense game going back and forth between our rivals. At the end of the game when almost all hope was lost, the Quakers scored a touchdown, with less then 3 seconds, to force the game into overtime. The student section ran all the way down to the opposite end of the field, to root on the Quakes. Trailing by 3 in overtime the Quaker's field goal attempt, which would have forced a second overtime, sailed just wide to the dismay of the cheering crowd.

Seniors Logan, Seth, Blake and Peyton get ready for the captains meeting.

Colton Meeks, junior, gets ready to collide with the teachers.

Ms. Miller looks excited to play for the staff in bubble soccer.

Teachers and Students Collide

Although the score was kept and the teachers won, that was not the focus of bubble soccer. Teachers and students bantered all week about how hard they were going to knock each other down. Senior girls took it serious and showed up with eye black and game faces. Garrett Strand, a.k.a. "Gracie" Strand, had the crowd in tears with his unique attire. The whistle blew and staff and students sprinted and collided to the enjoyment of the crowd. It was a celebration for the whole school just before Thanksgiving break.

Sophomores Latayn Jaberg and Addison Cooke get pumped up for the homecoming pep rally.

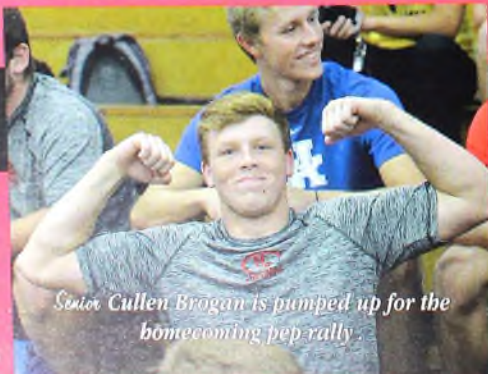

Joey, Branden, and Dalton, the dynamic trio show their support for ending breast cancer at the game.

Taylor, Natalie, and TJ don't mind rolling out of bed to show their spirit.

What's your sign?

When it came to pictures for the yearbook or any picture for that matter everyone felt the need to throw up some type of hand gesture. Most of the times it was in the form of a peace sign, other times it represented some fun thing from their past or the grade school they attended. Some people's gestures couldn't be shown in the yearbook, you know the ones. It was kind of funny that in the day of selfies and snapchat just getting your face in a picture wasn't quite enough.

The Crowd follows along to the roller coaster cheer.

Rally Together

The New Phila students never failed to keep cheering on their Quaker teams. From assemblies to games it was just fun to be a part of the crowd. Cheering on our teams and creating and participating in new cheers made everyone in the crowd a part of the event. We couldn't wait for the someone to step to the front of the crowd and do something crazy. Anything to be able to jump around and laugh together.

Creating Legends

Whether you were playing in the game or just there to cheer on the team, sporting events brought us all together. We celebrated wins and struggled through losses and made memories that helped define us.

Ahh 1-2-3 QT's...

LET'S DO IT!

The QT dance team had a fantastic year filled with opportunity. They began practicing technique in the beginning of May, and all of their work paid off. They went to summer camp and they won the home dance competition and many other awards. They also competed at the State competition and performed at a Cleveland Cavaliers game. For the first time, the QT's split into a football and basketball dance teams. Each team made wonderful memories between the all day practices, the sleep overs, and the dinners. The girls developed amazing friendships and had a great time.

TWO GREAT SEASONS

The JV and Freshman cheerleaders cheered on the boy's football and basketball teams on to two successful seasons. On top of that, the freshman squad won ECOL and the JV squad placed second, and some girls went on to compete on the varsity competition squad in the winter. Each squad worked hard everyday to improve their jumps and tumbling, and to go over their cheers. They grew and improved together as squads, and they made the most of their seasons together.

LEADING THE CROWD

The Varsity Cheerleaders regained the crown of top squad in the ECOL by wiping out their opponents at the ECOL Cheer Championships. The team practiced extra hard and long all season at Front School and at the YMCA. It all paid off as they perfected their timing and their tumbling routines. Aided by students from the cheering section the cheerleaders made every game more exciting whether we were winning or losing. From running up and down the track with the Quaker Flag or tumbling the length of the gym the cheerleaders got the crowd on their feet.

RUNNERS GOING FAR

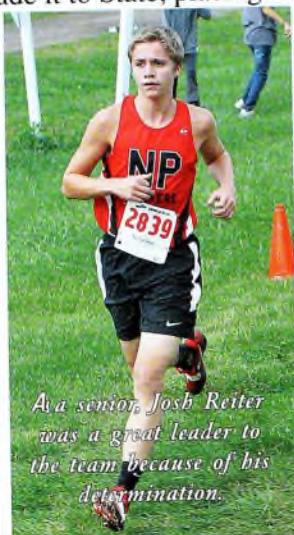

Hard work led to...

The boy's and girl's cross country team had an amazing season. They worked to improve themselves at their practices everyday. Though their workouts were intense, they grew together as a team and had loads of fun, which led to memories they will never forget. Both teams had success at districts, regionals, and state. For the girls team, Sarah Stoneman made it to Regionals and Rachel Anderson made it to the State meet, placing 11th in the division 2. For the boys, Aidan Harr also made it to State, placing 27th in division 1.

Rachel Anderson, a sophomore, led the runners throughout the race. All of her hard work payed off when she made it to the state meet.

Ava senior, Josh Reiter was a great leader to the team because of his determination.

Kayla Polka always had a positive attitude and made running miles fun.

Talented runners, Sarah Stoneman and Ryleigh Meechan keep pace with each other in the first few hundred meters.

At Meet the Team, an event before the school year that all the fall sports teams attended, the boys introduced themselves.

Luke-Ernest, a freshman, ran well at each meet and impressed the upperclassmen.

ECOL champ, Aidan Harr led the pack at every meet and was known school wide as a hard worker and an amazing runner.

PUTTING TO WIN

The girls' team ended their season with an impressive record of 17-3. They started a little rough but after August 31st came around they didn't lose a single match. Throughout the season they improved most in their putting game.

The boys varsity golf team ended their season with a record of 5-7, which is great for only having two upperclassmen on the team. Their hard work and practice all summer was evident by their improvement since the previous season.

Freshman, Allie Jurkovic, Kayla Dyer, and Leah Corbett stopped in the middle of the match to get a quick picture.

Kyle Dyer, sophomore, had an outstanding year of golf thanks to her drive.

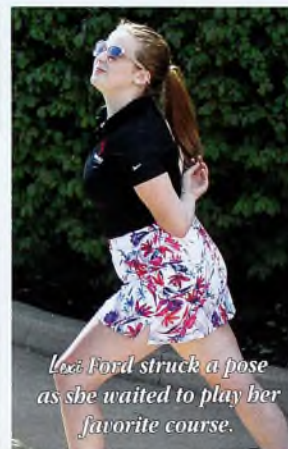

Leah Corbett, improved throughout the season in her chipping.

Kicking the ball towards...

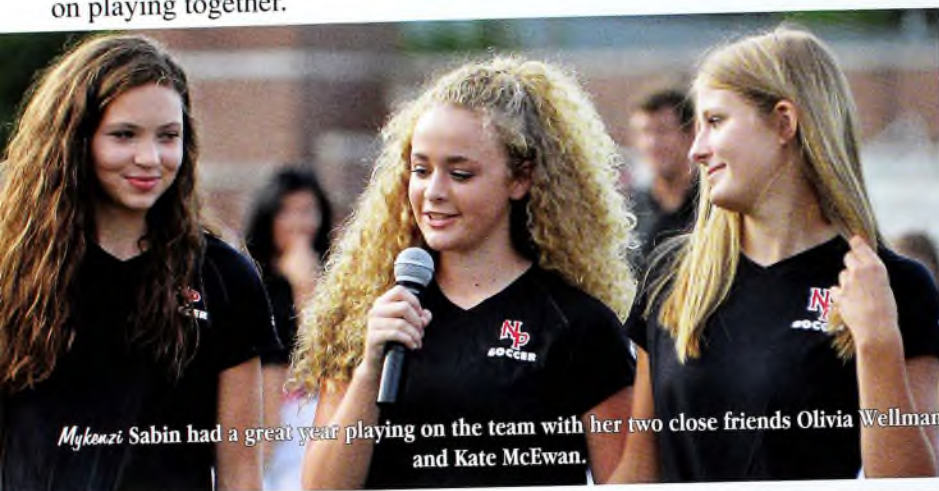

A HARD WORKING TEAM

The girls soccer team ended with a 7-8-2 record. It was a learning year for the young squad who were predominately underclassmen. Beginning before summer even began the team participated in kick arounds at South school and then spent time all summer at the Southside Soccer Complex to be ready for the season. The team worked hard on the fundamentals of the game and on playing together.

Josh Kaiser, a great goalie, stopped to look who he will pass it to.

Senior captain, Richard McEwan fought against Dover to win possession of the ball.

Nick Banks juggled the ball, hoping to help his team score.

Steven Elsesser, passed the ball up, keeping the other team from scoring.

Senior, Alex Gaskin, stopped his opponent from getting the ball.

Max drives the ball down the field.

Jimmy Gao, a senior, passes the ball from the sideline.

Max Kendall clears the ball from the goal to his teammates.

It's always better ..

ENDING ON TOP

The Boys Soccer team ended their season with a record of 10-7. They lost the first game against Dover, in a storm shortened home battle. They really came together as the season progressed highlighted by a big win vs. Dover in the re-match. The team went on to beat Morgan in their first play-off game, avenging a lost from the prior season. They played in 3 play-off games before ending their season. The boys tied for 2nd with the most regular season wins and most overall wins since 2004.

Aidan Harr a great all around player dribbles the ball past his opponent trying to center the ball for his offense.

Brock Chumney, sophomore, headed the ball to pass it to his teammate.

Exchange student, Fernando enjoyed playing soccer for NPHS while in America

Logan Morehead, an outstanding soccer player also succeeded as the kicker for varsity football.

Freshman, Ryan Ripley had a great time playing along side his twin brother Tyler.

Both the JV's and Freshmen had great seasons. Although volleyball officially started in August, most of the girls played all summer. From crazy clothing to killer burpees, the JV had a record of 18-4 and the Freshman had a record of 11-5. At games or scrimmages, they wouldn't sit on the bench, they would sit in front of the fans because it was so hot. Both teams had fantastic seasons which came from ambition and the mental ability to "get up out our dog house".

A TEAM OF SURPRISES

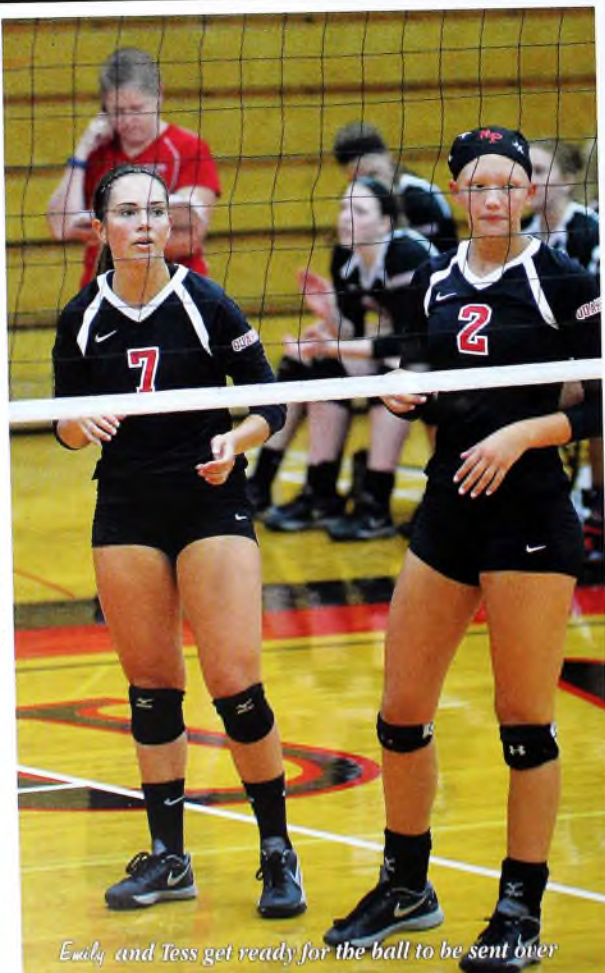

With a record of 25-4 the Quaker Volleyball team proved many people wrong with an amazing year. The Quakers ended their season as District Champs, the second time in New Phila history to make the "Sweet 16". The 5 seniors with great leadership pushed everyone on the team to be at their best. One thing that motivated the team was the theme "Believe" which is what they had to do in order to succeed.

Hustle and Heart...

A TEAM OF PASSION

Both the Freshman and Junior Varsity teams had very rewarding seasons. The JV team was a mixture of freshman, sophomores, and juniors; meaning that some players were on the field Thursday through Saturday morning. Although it was challenging to wake up on Saturday mornings after being on the field Friday night, it was rewarding to get to play. The freshman coaches worked hard coming up with strategies and plays, to make this season better than last year's. This combined with hard work, passion, and talent, led to the freshman team's redemption, with an impressive record of 6-2. The JV team's record was also 6-2. They kicked off the season with an impressive win against CCC, which really set the mood for the rest of the great season. Despite the differences in age and grade, the JV team had no problem bonding and coming together. This teamwork is what really made their wins possible.

TWO STATE TITLES

The boy's and girl's swim team both had fun and successful seasons.

Before ECOL, the boys bleached their hair and the girls got red streaks in their hair, a fun tradition they do every year. Both teams did well in sectionals and regionals, and the boys had a relay team that qualified for state, as well as Sem Andreis who not only qualified, but won at state in the 50 and 100 free. He was the first ever state champion from New Phila, and he made NPHS history.

Time Of Our Lives... A SWEET 16

Under first year head coach Tracy Payne, and with an all new staff the girl's basketball team had a great season finishing 21-5 earning a share of the ECOL Championship. With a focus on defense the team which was led by their three seniors was known for their hustle and tenacity. From last second shots to beat Louisville to beating rival Dover 3 times the girls worked hard and it paid off. With eyes on a trip to the State a controversial end in the regional semi-finals led to a heartbreaking end for an otherwise awesome season.

A TEAM OF LEADERS

The Varsity Boys Basketball team had a great season finishing second in the ECOL. Although the season began slow for the team under first year head coach Matt Voll they really began to gel when they went on a 12 game winning streak leading to a showdown with Dover for the league title. After winning the sectionals the Quakers suffered a tough loss against Meadowbrook in the District Semifinals 44-56.

With all the rain...

RAIN OR SHINE OR RAIN

Both the JV and Freshman baseball teams started out on a good note by winning their first games. As time went on many games became cancelled or delayed because of all the rain. Though they faced some challenges, both teams had a good season with records of 5-5(JV) and 3-6(Freshman). Some freshmen played up on JV which helped both them and the teams get better.

Austin Kohl positions himself under the pop fly.

Noah Nalawadi, freshman pitcher, strikes the batter out.

Luke Ernest grounds the ball and continues to make the play to get the runner out at 1st.

Koby Hoover, a freshman on JV, steals third base.

Team work made this season...

A GRAND SLAM

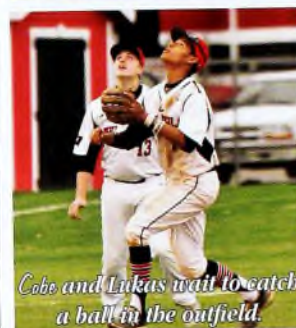

The varsity baseball team had a good season, with a record of 10-10, placing 3rd in ECOL. They started and finished strong, beating Dover by 10 runs and advancing into districts. Despite all the rain and game cancellations, they still had a fun season and lots of practice. On top of hard practices, the players all also had a fun season, supporting each other, playing a game called "Two Ball," and eating sunflower seeds.

IT'S NO SECRET

The fall play, "Sherlock's Veiled Secret," was a mystery that took place in London in the 1920s. Sherlock Holmes was reconnecting with his daughter, Violet, to involve her in a blackmail case. Through twists and turns, not only does Violet solve the case but she finds out who her long lost mother is as well. The cast worked hard everyday rehearsing and memorizing their lines under the direction of the Andy Potts.

Christina Everett looks into the crowd as she enters the stage to begin the play.

Seth Harriman, portraying Charles Yorke, is disgusted by his cold tea.

Play director Andy Potts pauses rehearsal to give the cast advice.

Abb Kneuss, Christina Everett, Seth Harriman, and Kayla Miller stand in a garden and discuss the blackmail case.

The characters break out into a fight over Violet's (Christina Everett) birth certificate.

Camryn Main, one of Sherlock's ex-lovers, is angry with Sherlock.

The cast of the play and the back stage crew all worked hard to put the production together.

Abbie Kneuss played the ghost of one of Sherlock's lovers, Irene.

Kayla Miller, playing Jill, resorts to drastic measures when her blackmail plan doesn't work out.

Christina rejects flowers from her apologetic stage fiancé.

The main characters, Violet (Christina) and Sherlock Holmes (Luke Kilchenman) drink tea together as they talk about the case.

'Tis the Season

Snow and cold outside reminded everyone of the upcoming winter. Inside the Baptist Church though, everyone was warm and cozy as they settled in to listen to the sounds of Christmas, at the annual Christmas Concert. The various choirs along with the Symphonic Band played to an enthusiastic crowd. One of the many highlights was the Delphian Chorale's rendition of I'll Be Home For Christmas. It was the 35th, and last year, of singing the Hallelujah chorus, a beloved tradition. All of the performances kept the packed room completely captivated.

Taylor Meese is ready to sing her solo that she has been practicing for weeks.

The brass and woodwind sections focus on the song they're playing.

The flutes raise their instruments and start playing a song from the Polar Express.

Quentin Binkley steps up to the mic to sing his solo.

Mr. Furbay wraps up the concert and prepares to bow.

Chloe Parrino sings her solo for Jazz Choir.

The concert choir is excited to perform the songs they've been working on.

Menschorus sings 'Santa Bring My Baby Back To Me'.

Everyone loves listening to the talented Delphian Corral sing 'I'll Be Home For Christmas'.

Marching band members enjoy being part of concert choir in the winter.

Old Meets New

"Shakespeare's Mixtape" was an original musical by Andy Potts. It incorporated Shakespearian sonnets with modern songs. The original musical plan was to be "Fiddler on the Roof", but due to a lack of males trying out for the parts needed, the cast chose to go with Mr. Pott's unique interpretation of Shakespeare.

Luke Kilchewan, senior, shocks the crowd as he bursts on stage shouting, "Blow Winds" from the Shakespearian play King Lear.

Molly showcases her amazing voice with her tragic solo "My Sad Captains" which was accompanied by an accordion.

The full cast performs "God, I Hate Shakespeare!" and fights over whether William Shakespeare is a "genius" or a "weenus".

Chloe captivates the audience with her beautiful solo.

Kari presents her interpretation of the line "To Be or Not to Be" and shows where the emphasis should go.

The cast stands side by side to wrap up the musical with the popular "Sigh No More".

Quentin is taken with the fairies. He and Luke, the only boy, have an amusing exchange.

The cast poses for a picture at their dress rehearsal after practicing for months.

The cast opens the show with Elton John's classic "The King Must Die".

Julia can't contain herself as she falls in love with Quentin, a mortal.

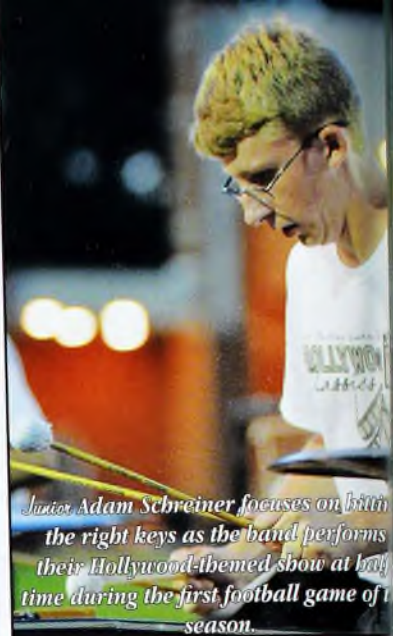

...played by Laurel Harstine, sings her part of "Sky Full of Stars" with Romeo.

Coltady explains to Kari why Shakespeare is so great and why everyone should admire him as much as she does.

Getting Tuned Up

Before the final bell ended, the previous school year the band had already begun getting ready for the upcoming season. All summer long you could find band members playing and marching behind the school on the hot blacktop, on the field at South Elementary, or marching in the First Towne Day's Parade. One of the big changes was to practice Thursday nights at the stadium so that they could perfect the timing for their upcoming show and at the same time prepare an awesome halftime show.

Junior Adam Schreiner focuses on hitting the right keys as the band performs their Hollywood-themed show at halftime during the first football game of the season.

Members of the Guard stand in position of the field before they start their halftime show on Friday night.

Alexis marches with her trumpet as she prepares to perform for an audience.

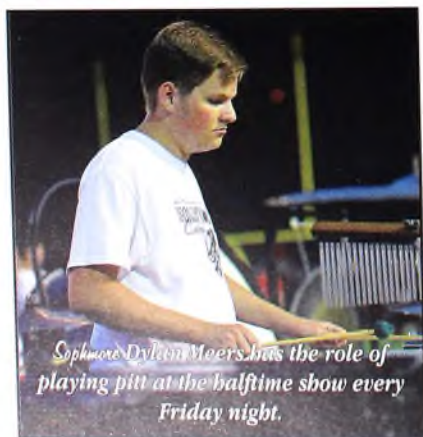

Drew plays the trumpet alongside other bandmates on Friday night game.

The horns march across the field during the halftime performance.

Sophomore Dylan Meers has the role of playing piano at the halftime show every Friday night.

Marching To Our Own Beat

For the music program, March Madness meant a day long "Music Marathon". From 8 in the morning 'til 9 at night, the gym was filled with music. The Steel Drum, Jazz, 8th-High School, and Indoor Percussion bands, along with Kaleidoscope all performed. Since the winter months were filled with practices, by concert time, the musicians were more than ready. The 8th grade band combined with the High School Symphonic Band finishing off the show strong, with the song, "Darkheart". An impressive $3,530 was raised that day, through generous donations by the community.

Alanis plays, a member of Indoor Percussion, plays the bass.

Jazz band performs the song Moondance

Buzzie, Mallory are about to throw their flags in the air.

Cameron Miller plays "Strung Together".

The Steel Drum band is playing the song Enter Sandman

Jayde enjoys being in Indoor Percussion, and loves participating in Music Marathon.

Emma, Mackenzie, and JT open the show by playing Carpe Diem.

Kaleidoscope is ready to catch the First Train Home!

David and Mr. Furbay play the song St. Thomas along with the other members of Jazz band.

Loei is focused on catching her flag.

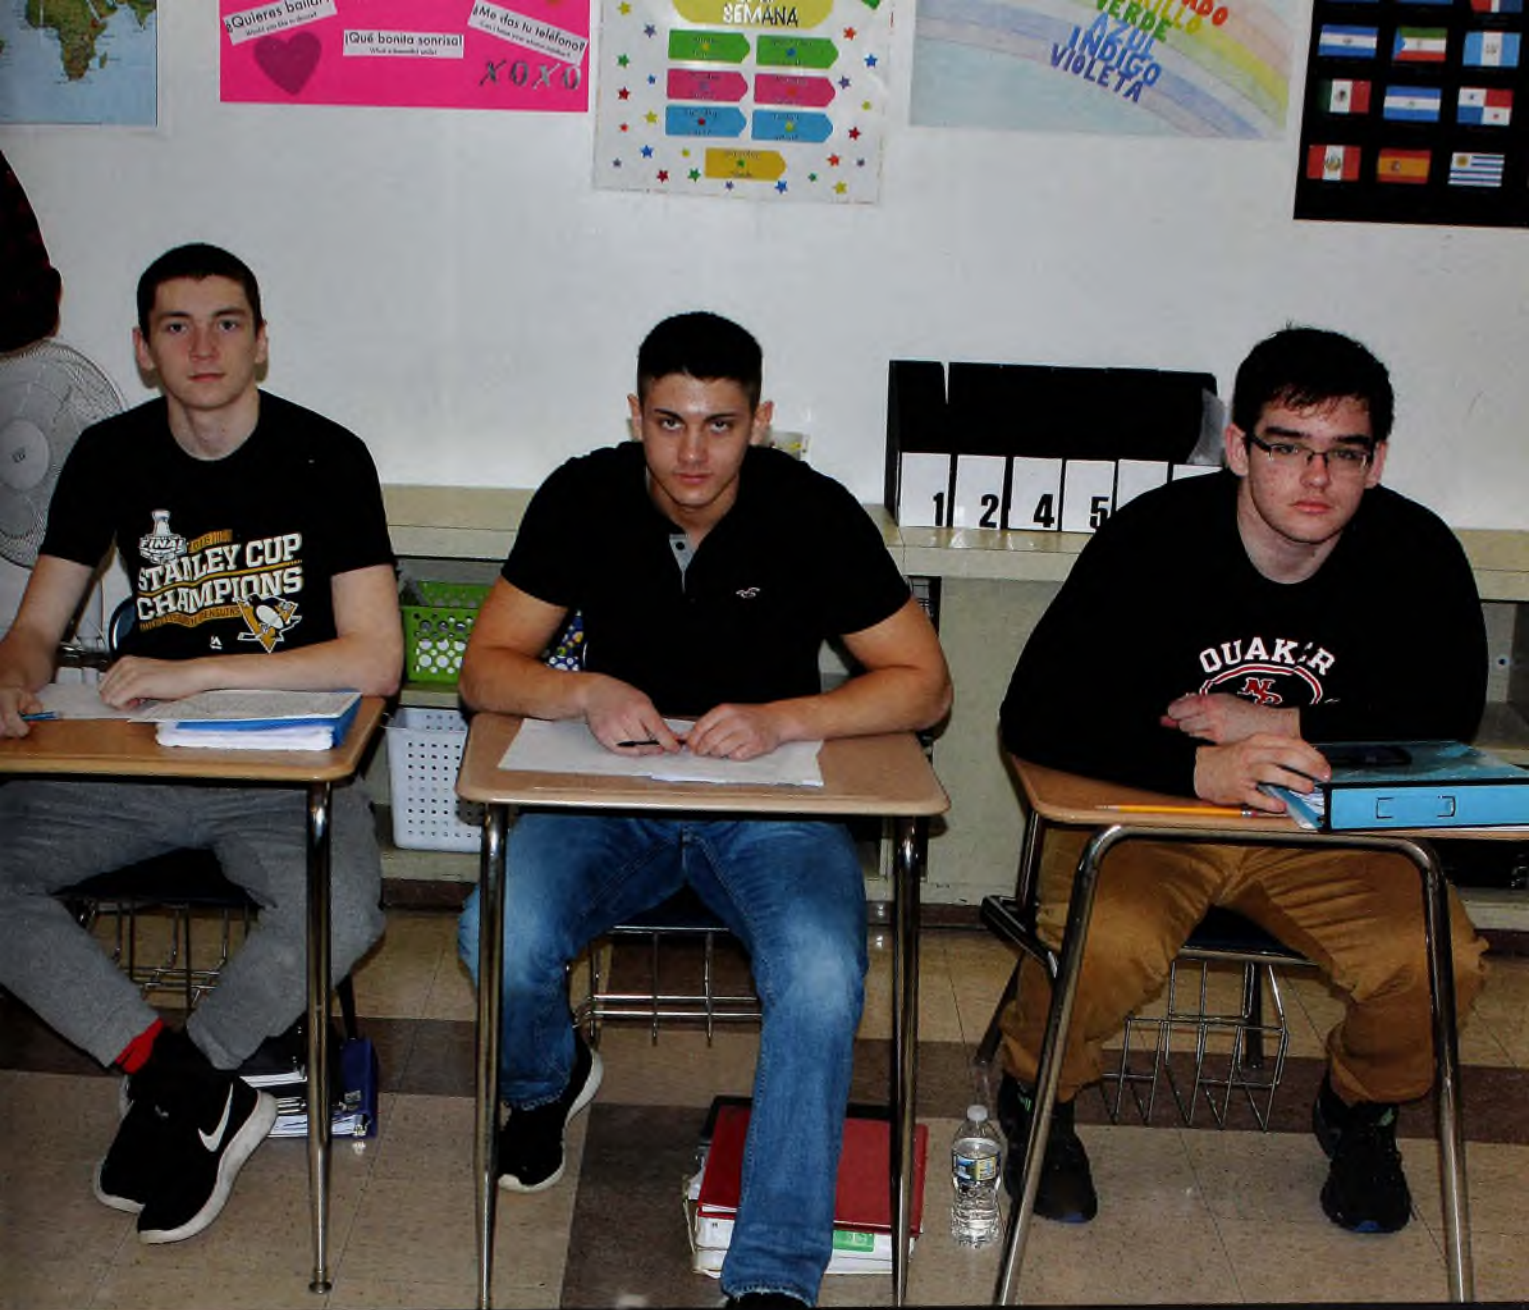

Fanny worked hard all season, and is excited about performing.

CLOSING

Leaving our mark!

In the end it was all about the experience of high school. Fun with friends, games, and even our tough classes helped us become who we hoped to be. At the same time we realized we left a little bit of ourselves in that time and place.

The Guitar Ensemble plays and sings the song "Little Talks" for their performance.

All of the acts gather to hear who won awards after the show was over.

Ms. Merkel sings a Led Zeppelin song to kick off the show.

Jake Henary and Paige Kaiser do a skit from the popular movie "Napoleon Dynamite."

Camryn Main sings "Rise Up" by Andra Day.

Emily Erwin, Emma Ward, and Nicole Young dance to the "Cha Cha Slide" and end their act with the "Y-E-I-I" cheer to pump up the crowd.

The crowd flips over Laterrian Cunningham and Nate Walker's tumbling act!

Ainsley Sefert plays her guitar and sings "Say You Won't Let Go" by James Arthur.

Madison Reidenbach and Mercedes Ray dance to "Shellshocked."

Prince Ray choreographs his own dance to a hip-hop remix.

QUAKER'S GOT TALENT

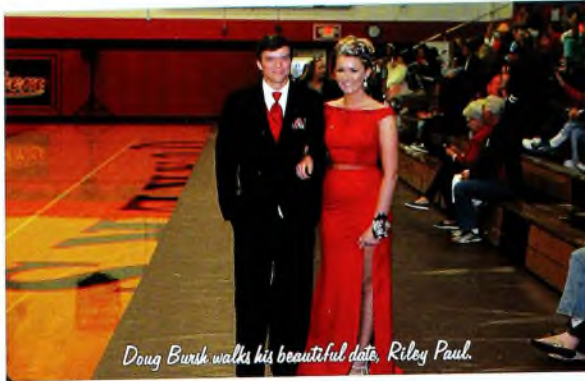

The 2017 talent show had nine acts and a lot of talent, from singing and dancing, to playing instruments, doing skits, and cheering. Laterrian Cunningham and Nate Walker won first place with their tumbling act featuring a running wall flip. Prince Ray wowed the crowd with his dancing, earning him the second spot. Camryn Main rounded out the winners placing third with her singing. Between acts student council raffled off Easter baskets to raise money for charity.

Jimmy Gao and his date look fantastic in red.

Caleb Robins and Spencer Charton had fun with the crowd.

Brianna and Cameron look stunning walking down the 'red carpet'.

Pegton Speicher escorts Emily Titzloff.

Derek and Anastasia look great for prom.

Andre Santana walks Whitney Honey in and they strut their stuff.

Dom and Salina turn heads walking in.

Seniors, Hannah, Lauren, and Mackenzie look stunning walking across the runway.

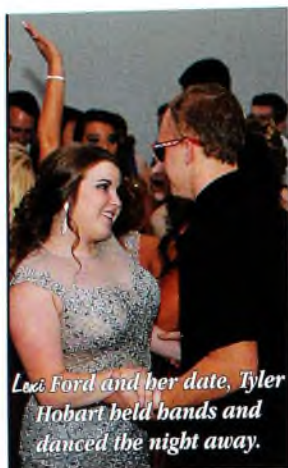

Juniors, AJ Harper and Brian Zacker look fantastic in blue.

RAIN RAIN GO AWAY

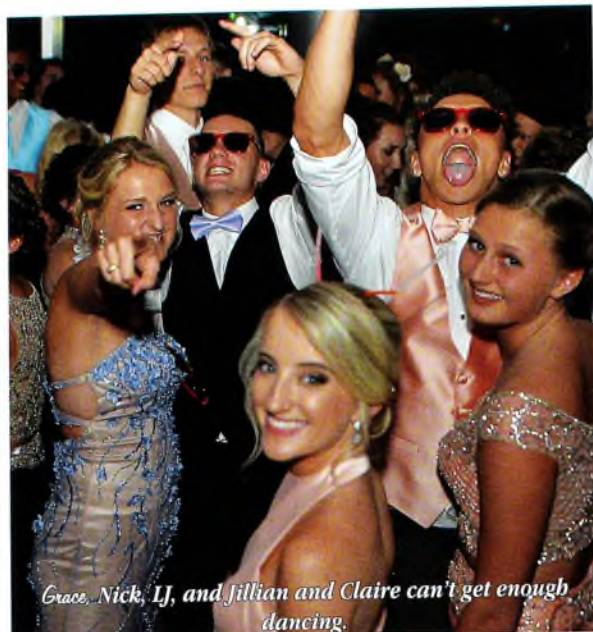

Sadly, the weather was rainy and cold and was not cooperating on prom night. Walk-ins had to be moved into the gym and started early so that couples could get to the dance on time. The time change caused many prom goers to skip walk-ins due to dinner reservations. Those couples who made walk-ins were treated to a crowd of oohs and aahs and lots of camera flashes.

Lois Ford and her date, Tyler Hobart held hands and danced the night away.

Grace, Nick, IJ, and Jillian and Claire can't get enough dancing.

The students at prom danced underneath an arch of colorful neon balloons.

Bobbie and Ethan enjoy a slow dance at their senior prom together.

Senior Tess McDade smiles with her date Jerrod, even though she was attending her very last school dance.

Meg and Sam move to the right during the electric slide.

Nolan shows off his dance moves while biting the Nae Nae.

Ellie Gerber and Lukas Kimble had their picture taken in honor of being crowned prom queen and king.

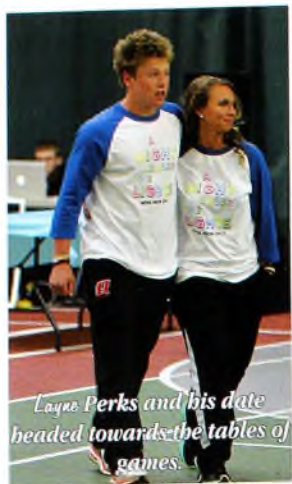

Seniors, Michael, Ellie, Emily, and Peyton, danced and sang together during a couples slow dance.

UNDER THE LIGHTS

Featuring sunglasses and glow sticks, prom goers enjoyed an evening of dancing and fun. The PAC was rocking as the couples danced in groups with all their friends. Even though it was cool and rainy outside, inside it was toasty, leading to a lot of guys dumping their jackets as the night went on. Prom began with the crowning of Lukas Kimble and Ellie Gerber as king and queen.

Layne Perks and his date headed towards the tables of games.

Senior Sarah Harr decided which bucket to put her tickets in to win a free prize.

Cullen Brogan signed his waiver to ride the mechanical.

Junior Dylan O'Neill gets ready to throw the ping pong ball to hope it goes in the cup.

Junior Josh and Anna raced against each other to see who could get the blue cup to the bottom first.

Taylor Meese suited up so it did not hurt when her opponent hit her.

Junior Rachel Gursal focused on throwing the card hard enough to get it stuck in the watermelon.

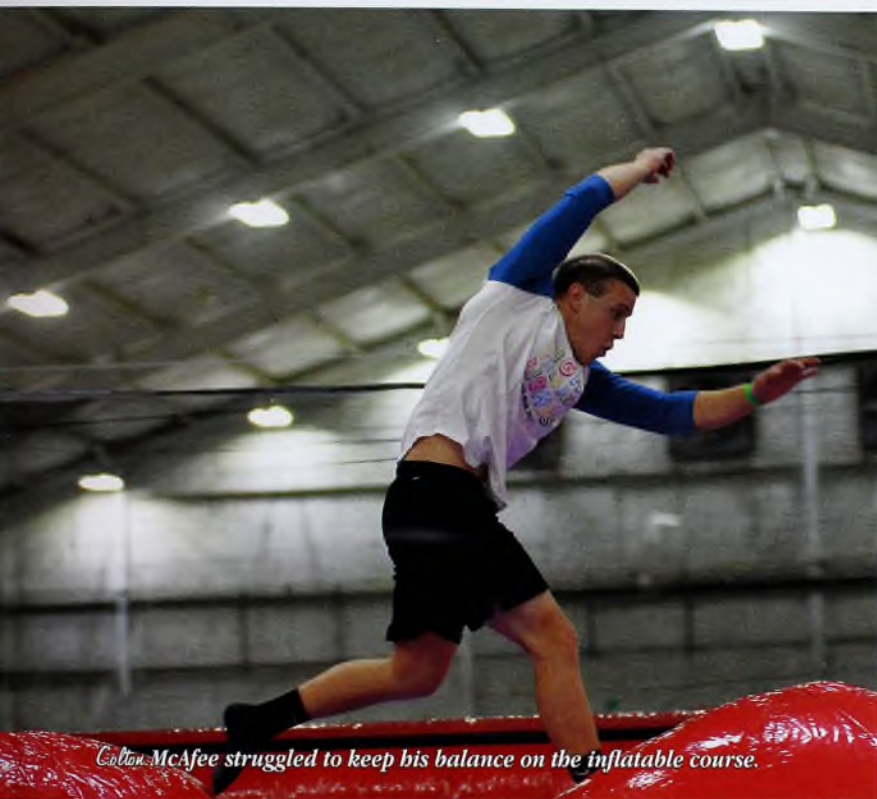

Megan Matcver and Sam Zemis teamed up to bounce the ball inside the tub.

Megan Dusenberry held on tightly so she didn't fall off the bull.

Ava Rosenberry and her date get ready to pose in the photo booth.

Colton McAfee struggled to keep his balance on the inflatable course.

Senior Jesse Jiang concentrating on stacking the apples.

POST-PROM

Although the students loved being all dressed up from the dance they were happy to get out of their dresses and tuxs to have a little fun afterwards . The students that attended post-prom had a blast from going to each table to play a game, going in/on the inflatable's, or riding the mechanical bull.

Sophomore, Addison Anderson, is excited to receive her second year letterman pin and perfect attendance certificate.

Mrs. Graham is proud to give the Chip Graham award to a hardworking senior, Brian Glazer.

Mr. Stetz hands sophomore, Hallie Heathmiller her second year letterman pin.

The Freshman class listens to Mrs. Claxton call their classmates to get their awards.

Senior, Katie Carpenter, gets a bronze tassel for graduating Cum Laude.

Ms. Briggs congratulates Junior, Kayla Morgan with her third year pin.

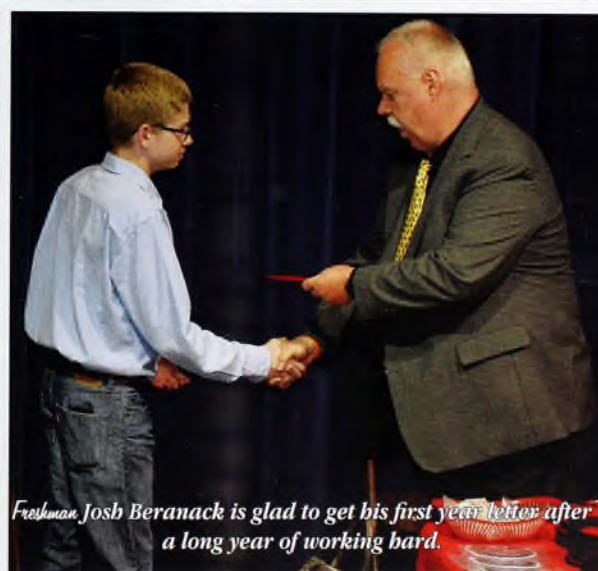

Senior, Emily Rayney is proud to graduate with Summa Cum Laude.

Gabe Ernest, a Junior, letters for the third year in a row and gets a perfect attendance certificate.

Freshman Josh Beranack is glad to get his first year letter after a long year of working hard.

TOPS OF THE CLASS

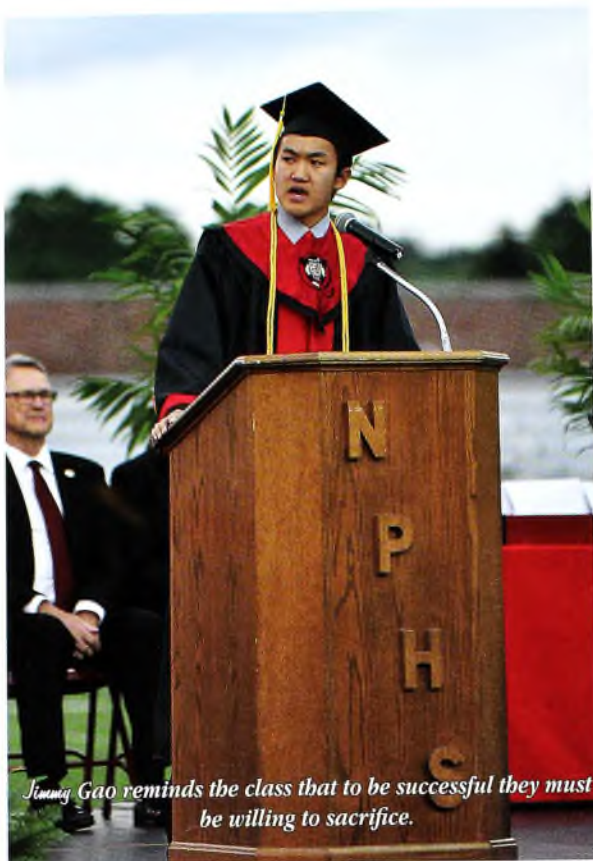

The academic awards ceremony was a fun night hosted by National Honor Society, where students grade 9-12 were recognized for their hardwork in school and academic excellence. Seniors were presented with their scholarship awards and Honor's Cords. There was a huge turn out of students along with family members.

*Compliments of
David and Jean Engibous
Congrats scholars!*

Megan Riker reminds the class that they all have super-powers.

Jimmy Gao reminds the class that to be successful they must be willing to sacrifice.

With diplomas in hand the front row is excitedly waiting for everyone else to get through.

Luke Leindecker takes his final walk as a senior.

Paul Schroeder looks to the stands.

Toni reacts to the cheers from the crowd.

Introducing the "Class of 2017".

Emily Tetzloff accepts her red rose.

Class President Alexa Ansel reminds the class how lucky they are to have such a wonderful community.

Happy graduates, Richard McEwan, Tess McInturf, Braxton Hill, Alayna Sandefur, Hannab Shook, and Lexi Miller are all smiles!!

The bus overshot the mark but the seniors were able to still get lined up in time.

LOOKING AHEAD

On a beautiful evening in May the class of 2017 marched onto the field at Quaker Stadium one last time to mark an end to their high school careers. They were a small class in numbers but they will leave a big impact on NPHS and on the world in the future.

The chapters that made up our school life were ended and so the class of 2017 set off to write the next chapter in the book of their lives. For NPHS it also marked the end of an era as Mr. Pry finished this final yearbook, #30, Terry and Patty Barnhill (Mitchell's) and A.D. Ed Leggett retired after careers of dedicated service to NP Schools.
